WILL RESTORE MACE TAKEN IN OLD WAR

Detachment of Mounted Police to Receive "Bauble" at Portland

WILL HOIST FLAG AT HISTORICAL SITE

VANCOUVER, June 7 (CP).—Sixteen uniformed Royal Canadian Mounted Police will leave here, on Saturday, for Portland, Ore., where they will receive the mace taken from the Parliament of Upper Canada at York, by American troops, during the war of 1812.

The Mounted Police will bring the mace back to Canada and, in company with Canadian Legion officers, return it to the Ontario Government.

LEGION DETACHMENT

With the R.C.M.P. detachment will go some 400 mufti-clad members of the Canadian Legion, headed by President Brigadier-General Alexander Ross, of Yorkton, Sask., and Sir Percey Lake, of Victoria, grand president. They will attend the convention in Portland of the British Columbia Command of the Legion, June 11-14, the first one ever to be held outside British territory.

The venue of the ninth annual convention was chosen out of consideration of the nine branches of the Legion located in Washington and Oregon.

Lieutenant-Governor J. Fordham Johnson of British Columbia will receive the mace, which was recently ordered restored to Canada by a special act of the United States Congress, initiated by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

WILL HOIST THE FLAG

During their stay at Portland, the Legionnaires will participate in another historical ceremony, the reception of a Union Jack at the site of the old Hudson's Bay fort at Vancouver, Washington.

The fort is near the spot where the master of a British sailing vessel planted the first apple tree on the Pacific Coast, 106 years ago, the start of what was to become one of the major industries of British Columbia and the Pacific Northwest.

Legion delegates from Alberta and Saskatchewan will accompany the British Columbia representatives to the convention.

TWO INJURED IN FORCED LANDING

Eastbound Air Liner Crashes in Cascade Range in Washington

SEATTLE, June 7 (AP). — A United Air Line plane, westbound over the Cascades from Spokane and Wenatchee, was forced down, late today, near Selleck, Wash., and one passenger, a woman, was injured, and Ben Redfield, pilot, was cut and bruised, a telephoned report to the company's office said, tonight.

Word of the crash was telephoned out by Dwight Hansen, co-pilot, from one of the telephones of the Pacific States Lumber Company, along the railroad right-of-way, the company said.

HAD SIX PASSENGERS

The plane left Spokane for Seattle at 3:22 p.m., with a full crew of three and two passengers, and took on four more passengers at Wenatchee, which point it left at 4:35 p.m.

The woman injured was reported to be Mrs. O. G. Johannsen, who boarded the plane at Spokane.

The passengers who boarded the plane at Wenatchee were Robert C. Clark, of Wenatchee; Helen Curran, as Seattle, and Daisy Mooney and Mercedes Boyd, of Winthrop, Wash., the company reported here.

English Film Studios Have Large Output

LONDON, June 7 (CP-Havas).—The English film industry has quadrupled its production in the past few years, it was revealed today, and the report pointed out that the quality of the films has led England's movie houses to show twice as many British films as the law requires.

The "boom" in English films has led to a production of an average of ten films per week, or some 200 for 1934 if the present pace is maintained, as against the former annual averages of fifty to sixty.

A GIFT FROM MUSSOLINI

ROME, June 7 (CP-Havas).—Two thoroughbred horses, the gift of Italians in Canada to Benito Mussolini, arrived today at Genoa on a steamer from Montreal.

MARKETING BILL GIVEN THIRD READING BY LARGE MAJORITY

Liberals, Except Motherwell, With Bourassa and Neill, Vote Against Measure

KING'S AMENDMENTS DEFEATED BY HOUSE

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP).—Ending weeks of bitter debate, the House of Commons, tonight, divided eighty-five to thirty-five in support of third reading of the Marketing Bill.

Unloosing a typical verbal barrage, barbed with pent-up resentment at criticisms and charges levelled at the administration by the Liberal Opposition, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett presented the final Government argument, declaring that every year it was in office the Mackenzie King Government enacted legislation delegating to lesser bodies of its creation the powers it now claimed were the sole prerogatives of Parliament.

AGAINST OWN POLICIES

This was in reply to the main attack of the Opposition. If the Opposition believed the Government was doing wrong in delegating powers to marketing boards, then it was going against not only the highest court in the Empire, the Privy Council, but against its own policies when in power, said Mr. Bennett.

Bitterly denying charges of the Opposition that the bill was but a step toward a proposed centralization of marketing regulation within the Empire, Mr. Bennett declared,

Japan Not Interested in Arms Embargo Against Belligerents

TOKIO, June 8 (AP).—A spokesman for the Foreign Office announced today that Japan declines to concern herself with the arms embargo fostered by the League of Nations against Paraguay and Bolivia.

"Since Japan seceded from the League of Nations," said the spokesman, "she has been following the principle that she is in no way concerned with the League's political affairs."

That will be Japan's only reply to the League's invitation to join the embargo against the warring South American countries.

It will probably be delivered verbally to the League by Consul-General Yokoyama at Geneva. The spokesman said Japan was not selling arms to Paraguay or Bolivia and that he did not believe there would be any such sales in the future.

Mines Are Leading B. C. To Recovery With Solid Gains

Corrected Figures for 1934 Show Steady Advance Made in Six of Eight Branches of Industry in Province—Output Valued at $32,602,672

BRITISH Columbia's mining industry increased by approximately 15 per cent the combined value of its products last year, when the output was $32,602,672 in Canadian funds, exclusive of dividends of $3,034,484, according to corrected totals made available by Hon. G. S. Pearson, British Columbia Minister of Mines. This total was $3,803,266 greater than in 1932, and was accompanied by gains in all branches, saving coal and structural materials. It involved, also, a gain of 8 per cent in employment.

Gross tonnage handled amounted to 4,030,778 tons, with an average value of $5.87 per ton. This was a decrease of 309,380 tons from the year before, but an increase in average value per ton of 25 per cent. Gold, silver, lead, zinc, copper and miscellaneous minerals all improved in value; while coal and building supplies declined. Gold, in Canadian funds, reached an all-time high of $6,955,716, producers receiving an average price of $28.60 per fine ounce for the year.

EXCEEDED ESTIMATES

The results achieved exceeded by $1,600,000 the estimated value of production given in preliminary figures of the Department at December 31 last, when it was thought the output would reach $31,000,000. The actual total of $32,602,672 compares with $28,798,406, recorded values in 1932. Dividends in both years were approximately the same.

Added to substantial improvement shown in 1933 are even brighter prospects for the current year. Production figures do not include hundreds of thousands of dollars brought into the province for new development, and which went, in part, to finance 145 new mining concerns. Important new

KILLERS DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Three Pay Penalty for Murder of Derelict Man After Many Attempts

OSSINING, N.Y., June 8 (AP).—Three members of a murder syndicate, who killed a derelict for $2,000 insurance, died in the electric chair tonight. The fourth member of the syndicate, scheduled to die with them, was granted a last-minute reprieve so that his sanity might be investigated.

Execution of the trio was a matter of fourteen minutes, whereas they took eight months to kill Mike Malloy, who wouldn't die. They finally stupified him with liquor, dumped him on a bed and suffocated him with gas.

That was after they had fed him oysters pickled in poison alcohol, had him eat sandwiches containing ground tin, giving him quantities of wood alcohol; sated his appetite with poisoned sardines; dumped him on a little-traveled road and run an automobile back and forth across his body. After that they resorted to the gas.

LOSES LIFE TO RETRIEVE HAT

Employee at Whipsnade Zoo Killed and Mauled by Lions

WHIPSNADE, England, June 7 (AP). — While a crowd of horrified spectators looked on, four lions in an open-air zoo today killed a zoo employee who had gone into their pit to recover a visitor's hat.

The owner of the hat and several other persons who tried to save the victim, Stanley Lewis Stenson, were driven back by the lions, two of which were eventually killed by keepers before they could recover Stenson's body.

MAULED BY LIONS

Stenson, employed in the catering department of the zoo, apparently decided suddenly to attempt to retrieve the hat, and went into the enclosure between the outer barrier and the railing surrounding the pit in which the lions are kept.

As he crawled along the top of the inside railing two of the lions reached through the bars and began mauling him.

Stenson was unable to get away from the lions' claws and several spectators went into the place to try to pull him away, but were not successful, as the two other lions joined in the attack through the bars.

FALLS INTO PIT

Stenson then fell into the pit, striking his head on the concrete about sixteen feet below. The lions dragged him farther into the pit as the horrified spectators screamed and several women fainted.

The keepers had to shoot two of the lions before they were able to drive the others into their cages at the far end of the pit.

Thief Leaves Trail Of Chicken Feed

CHICAGO, June 7 (CP).—A robber ran down the street with a cash box, and the money ran, too. The container had a hole in it, and a trail of nickels and dimes was followed by employees for blocks. When the robber discovered the leak and plugged the hole, the trail was lost. So was $189. Most of the small coins were recovered.

Agree on Procedure For Conference by Way of Compromise

Great Britain, France and United States to Work in Unison

TO NEGOTIATE FOR GERMANY'S RETURN

GENEVA, June 7 (AP).—A compromise agreement was reached tonight by representatives of Great Britain, France and the United States on a disarmament conference programme providing negotiations for the return of Germany.

After a long discussion on varying viewpoints, following a dinner given by Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, announcement was made that an agreement had been reached on a programme to rescue the faltering conference.

Although the nature of the agreement was not fully revealed, it was said to be a compromise between the proposals of Arthur Henderson, president of the conference, for an adjournment while political differences are cleared up, and that of Barthou for the conference to go ahead with certain studies.

SPECIFIC PROVISION

The Associated Press learned that the compromise provides specifically for negotiations by governments for the return of Germany to the conference.

It was understood that Maxim Litvinoff, of Russia, and Foreign Ministers Edouard Benes, of Czechoslovakia, and Nicholas Titulescu, of Rumania, who are also staying at the hotel where the meeting was held, were fully informed of the provisional agreement.

Those present at the discussion were Anthony Eden and William Strang, for Great Britain; Barthou,

MAKES CUT IN SALARIES

C.N.R. Executive Officers' Pay Greatly Reduced, Committee Is Told

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP). — A drastic cutting of salaries of Canadian National Railway executive officers was revealed to the railways and shipping committee of the House of Commons, today.

In answer to a request made yesterday by J. A. Fraser, Conservative member for Cariboo, Chairman C. P. Fullerton told the committee that the number of executive officers in receipt of $15,000 or more had dwindled, from thirty-six in 1931, to an even half-dozen now.

EXPENSES REDUCED

A total compensation of $677,500 for these officers in 1931 had now dropped to $117,800. Personal expenses of the thirty-six executives in 1931 totaled $51,461. Last year they amounted to $5,852.

The statement prompted one member of the committee, Wilfred Hanbury (Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard) to protest strongly that C.N.R. executives were not receiving enough pay. He said that he understood heads of Class "A" railways elsewhere were in receipt of salaries ranging from $75,000 to over $108,000.

Cut Down Wages Of Ten Thousand To Add to Sales

Workers Suffer for Competition of Big Department Stores in Selling Low-Priced Clothing—Startling Disclosures Made of Discounts and Spreads—False Advertising Revealed

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP). — An estimated total of 10,000 clothing workers in Montreal and Toronto had their wages cut, as a result of competition between two Toronto department stores, the T. Eaton Company, Limited, and the Robert Simpson Company, Limited, in low-priced suits, the Paliamentary Mass Buying Committee was told today.

In December, 1932, the Eaton firm advertised made-to-order men's suits for $16.50. This reduced sales in one of Canada's biggest clothing houses, Tip-Top Tailors, of Toronto. This firm arranged with the Simpson organization to deliver suits at $13, to be retailed at $16.50, the same figure as their competitors.

ACCEPTED WAGE CUT

A 10 per cent wage cut was necessary in the Tip-Top plant to fill the order at $13 a suit and the employees accepted it. Being a union shop, this rate spread to other tailoring houses in Toronto and Montreal. It was estimated that the wages of 10,000 workers were reduced in the process. The Simpson firm sold 3,000 suits.

All day long, the committee heard evidence, today, on the merchandising practices of the Simpson firm, with George Adamson, investigating

Cities Ask Revision Of Fiscal Relations With B.C. Treasury

Victoria and Vancouver Councils Seek New Start With Division of Duties and Costs for Public Services They Are Required to Perform

OFFICIAL spokesmen for Victoria and Vancouver cities asked the British Columbia Government yesterday for a redistribution of duties and costs as between the Province and the municipalities. They suggested the Government assume the entire costs and administration of education, hospitalization, unemployment relief, and the so-called social services, and, or in some cases, alternatively, to give to the cities the proceeds of the amusement tax, new revenue sources, and a larger percentage of Provincial revenues.

If taken literally, on the basis of 1932 figures, which are the last obtainable, this would place between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 annually on the shoulders of the Province and the Dominion in expense borne by the two cities of Victoria and Vancouver in that year, exclusive of seventy-six other centres in the province. The delegation, however, did not ask specific cash relief, but a re-examination of the whole scope of civic and provincial public services with the aim of redistributing responsibilities and resultant costs.

CONSIDERATION PROMISED

After an hour's audience with the Cabinet, the delegation left with the assurance that its proposals would be examined; that the provincial-municipal field of taxation and finances would be reinvestigated, and that some legislative plan would be introduced by the Government at the next session of the Legislature. According to one member of the delegation, the Government indicated it would consider an upward revision of educational grants in

AGED CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

Edward White, Ninety-Three Years Old, Resident Here Since 1862

Another pioneer, who came to this city when Vancouver Island was still a Crown colony, passed away, early yesterday morning, in the person of Edward White, aged ninety-three years, of 351 Michigan Street. Death occurred shortly before breakfast and when he was making plans to take his usual morning walk.

Mr. White was a very active man for his years, and even up to Sunday last enjoyed excursions into the country. Last Sunday he went for a drive to Sooke.

Born in London, within the sound of the Bow Bells, in 1841, Mr. White was lured from the city in which his father was a freeman by the news of rich gold strikes on the Fraser River.

THREE KILLED IN SHIP EXPLOSION

Fourteen Others Injured During Repair Work in Drydock—Tanker Badly Damaged

PHILADELPHIA, June 7 (AP).—An explosion in the hold of the Atlantic Refining Company oil tanker W. D. Anderson late today killed three workmen, injured at least fourteen others, and badly damaged the ship.

The men were repairing the vessel in a drydock in the Kensington section of the city. Police said the blast apparently was caused by fumes in the hold becoming ignited from an acetylene torch.

The explosion tore a large hole in the port side of the prow, set the ship and dock afire, shattered nearby windows and threw workmen from a scaffold alongside the ship. Other workmen trapped in the hold were rescued by firemen and sailors.

POSSIBILITY OF SABOTAGE SUGGESTED

Captain of President Lincoln Doubtful as to Cause of Fire

LITTLE ALARM WHILE CREW FOUGHT BLAZE

HONOLULU, June 7 (AP).—Fire, breaking out in the hold of the Dollar liner President Lincoln, at sea, last night, imperiling nearly 400 persons aboard, was throttled by her crew as the ship raced into Honolulu, this morning, with her lifeboats swinging from her davits and many passengers wearing life preservers.

Capt. George Yardley, skipper of the Lincoln, said upon arrival that the blaze probably was caused by spontaneous combustion in the inflammable cargo, but that there was a possibility of sabotage having been attempted. Two military airplanes, shipped by the Curtiss-Wright Corporation and destined for the Chinese Government, were in the still blazing hold near the point where the fire broke out.

The captain expressed the hope that the local fire department would definitely determine the cause of the blaze.

STILL SMOULDERING

Escorted into the harbor by the navy tug Sunaddin, the ship docked at dawn, with the cargo in her main hold still smouldering. The navy tug, which had stood by off Koko Head, near the harbor entrance, throughout the night, ready to give aid, immediately began pumping water into the smoking compartment, and Honolulu firemen rigged hoses to assist in the fight.

News that the liner was afire was dramatically made known to the 172 passengers by the captain at

DISCUSS TRADE WITHIN EMPIRE

Commissioners See Necessity for Closer Economic Planning in Competition

MONTREAL, June 7 (CP).—A definite upward swing in intra-Empire trade, to continue just so long as the countries in the Commonwealth agree to closer economic planning in their competition for the United Kingom market, to prevent prices being driven down to a ruinous level, was the prospect envisioned here today, before the sixty-third annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association by a group of overseas trade commissioners in Canada.

The meeting was dedicated to trade and commerce, with especial reference to intra-Empire trade and the benefits accrued from British Empire trade agreements. Chief speaker was Sir William Clark, High Commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada.

Others were L. R. Macgregor, Australian trade commissioner in Canada; J. W. Collins, commissioner for New Zealand in Canada and the United States; D. de W. Meyer, trade commissioner for the Union of South Africa, and L. S. Glass, trade commissioner for the Eastern group of the British West Indies.

Recovery would come to the world, Sir William Clark declared, when nations discontinue their present artificial stimulation of uneconomic production. There should be planning with this end in view. His idea would imply active participation by the Dominions and the Mother Country, and it would be necessary to invite the co-operation of the foreign countries interested.

Mocked by False Smile Of Fortune

NEW YORK, June 7 (CP). — Calamity struck the humble house of Tony Rotovnik, janitor, today.

Yesterday he was secure in the belief that his ticket had won $75,000 in the Irish hospital sweepstakes. He had publicly thrown away his janitor's broom, forever, he said.

The calamity came today in the form of a young man, Frank Smith, who is Rotovnik's nephew. Smith came to congratulate his uncle on his good fortune. Then Smith asked to see the telegram giving the number of the ticket.

Smith read it, moaned and sank to the floor. When he revived he shouted "The number! The number—it is of my ticket!"

Pandemonium broke loose. It was true. The nephew had given the uncle's address when he purchased his ticket.

VISITING MEN HONORED HERE

Dignitaries Extend Official Welcome to Sailors of U.S.S. San Francisco

More than 400 persons, representing members of the Provincial Government, the Canadian and American navies, and ex-service men's organizations, in Victoria, assembled last night in the Chamber of Commerce, where a grand smoking concert was held in honor of the officers and ship's company of the visiting U.S.S. San Francisco.

Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Hon. T. W. Pattullo and Captain R. E. Ingersol, captain of the American vessel, were principal speakers. The Lieutenant-Governor welcomed the visiting sailors in behalf of the Province. He expressed his appreciation at being able to greet the U.S.S. San Francisco.

FRIENDSHIP NEEDED

Premier Pattullo stated he hoped this smoking concert would cement relationships between the United States and Canada and that the men would carry away from Victoria a longing to return. "What Canada and the United States need, today, is a firm understanding, and it is such things as this concert that brings us closer together," declared the Premier.

Captain Ingersol, replied suitably. He referred to the splendid hospitality Victorians had shown to his officers and crew and felt the men would always remember their first visit to a Canadian port.

MANY ARTISTS

C.P.O. J. H. Temple, R.C.N., acted as master of ceremonies. Jack C. Rivers was chairman. Those at the speakers' table included Major T. R. Wheadon and E. E. Hardistry, officials of local ex-service organizations.

The artists taking part in the concert were, A. Jackman, the Victorian Male Quartette, H. Warner, J. Debbie, James Mossop, Thomas Obee, Stanley James, Messrs. Holmes and Anderson, B. Brown, A. Smith, Fred Hunter, C. Prescott, A. McKinnon and William Corbett.

During the evening several members of the U.S.S. San Fransisco entertained with impromptu songs.

CITIES ASK REVIEW OF FISCAL RELATIONS

July; but this could not be confirmed.

Specifically the delegation asked that:

1. The responsibility of cities to tax real property be limited to local services of benefit to such property.

2. Where the Province assigns administration of general services to the cities, such as health and relief, a fair proportion of provincial revenues be given to meet such costs.

3. The Province declare that administration of education and hospitals primary provincial jurisdictions, the costs to be met out of other than taxation on real property.

LICENSING RIGHTS

4. Cities receive back the right to licence certain businesses, including insurance and trust companies, beer parlors, beverage dispensers, export liquor dealers, employment bureaux and taxi drivers.

5. The amusement tax, raised in cities, be handed to such centres.

6. Arbitrary limitation of trades and business licences be eliminated and councils empowered to set these limits in their discretion.

7. Social services, of no direct relation to land, be administered solely by the Province; and that the entire cost of such services be provided out of income taxation or similar assets, as distinct from realty revenues.

8. A declaration that the entire cost of unemployment relief is a responsibility of the Dominion, and that cities be relieved of any part of relief costs.

PRIOR SUBMISSIONS

The delegation referred to the report of the Harper Municipal Commission, which had suggested that the municipalities be placed back on the 1929 basis in grants and with lessened social service obligations; and to the submissions of the British Columbia Union of Municipalities on December 8 last, when more general requests had been made of the Government.

The municipal brief set up that cities were incorporated by the Province with two classes of services; these being, respectively, local services, including street maintenance; drainage, public lighting and fire protection, and general or national services, including education, public health and relief. Municipalities should either be given access to revenue sources to meet these costs, or sufficient Provincial help to meet revenue deficiencies, it was argued.

Municipal revenues in the past had been confined within narrow limits to taxation on land in some form, while growing wealth, apart from land, had been tapped by Governments. The number and complexity of public services had steadily increased as fresh responsibilities had been governmentally assumed. Increasing burdens had been transferred to cities, without either new revenue sources being opened, or equivalent help in Provincial grants to meet such costs, it was submitted.

CONFISCATORY LEVIES

Taxation on real property had reached a point where it was breaking down capital values of the land, and was tantamount to confiscation, the delegation submitted. If the discrimination between collections from real property and other forms of wealth persisted, capital land values would be entirely destroyed, with consequent elimination of heretofore the most permanent form of community asset. A mrre equitable division of civic costs would restore land values, re-establish such assets, and bring back confidence necessary for transaction of all business.

The delegation buttressed its argument with tables, showing decreases in property values in Victoria and Vancouver; lessening of Government grants, and a growing weight of tax reverted properties in both centres. It contended that present methods of taxation were destroying the foundation of community life, instancing Victoria, where, it was set out, the tax levy this year was $29,000 more than in 1929, while $726,000 of direct liabilities had had to be left unprovided for by taxation, and met by other means.

One table was directed to showing that Vancouver had $2,141 per capita in real property values in 1914 for each of its 144,610 persons, as against $1,445 per capita for 243,711 persons in 1934, with total assessments of $307,708,111 and $352,213,882, respectively.

Another table indicated Victoria levied $1,639,869 in taxation in 1934 on a total assessment of $52,136,741, while $1,786,915 had been levied in 1914 on assessments of $115,955,930, or a triple growth of proportionate taxation on real property.

A third table set out Vancouver collected $4,403,632 from real property in 1914, and hopes to collect $12,833,593 in 1934 from the same source, these proportions being more than 80 per cent of the entire revenues, to which governmental contributions in the same years were, and will be, $181,267 and $642,359, respectively. Placing social service costs against this year's grants, Vancouver figured Government direct aid at a flat 2 per cent of its 1934 budget.

GRANTS DECLINED

Government grants to Victoria, another computation showed, fluctuated from $120,851 in 1921 to $255,952 in 1929, and back to $107,800 estimated for 1934. School grants were weighed at $120,717 in 1931, and $71,800 estimated for this year. Other grants, worth $155,287 in 1929, are placed at $36,000 this year.

Victoria holds 3,799 parcels of tax reverted lands, costing it $1,714,241, and valued at $2,567,895. Vancouver holds 18,263 parcels, costing it $2,275,702 in uncollected revenues, and valued at $4,815,595, a further schedule conveyed.

The delegation recited, further, that Victoria had used $450,000 from its surplus sinking funds between 1929 and 1934; had refunded $200,000 or more in each of the last four years; had set up a relief loan of $500,000 in 1932; had passed up $241,898 in sinking funds provision this year, exclusive of Government loans on relief in two years. To meet the situation, Victoria had cut salaries and the size of staffs, from a payroll of $702,000 in 1929 to $512,000 in 1933, and had requirements of $725,948 more than it had been found possible to levy for in this year.

The delegation, composed of Mayor Louis D. Taylor, Alderman George Miller, Comptroller A. J. Pilkington and W. Wardhaugh, for Vancouver, and Mayor David Leeming and Comptroller D. A. MacDonald, for Victoria, announced it had received a receptive hearing with the Cabinet, and had been invited to renew the matter further with Hon. A. W. Gray.

LEGISLATION COMING

Premier Pattullo declared later that the Government intended a complete revision of provincial-municipal fiscal relations, and would bring forward legislation at the next session to this end. Both the Province and the municipalities were seeking more revenues, he added.

Provincial records show school costs in Vancouver for the last year of record, 1932, were $3,606,000, including interest and sinking funds, while in Victoria for the same year and on the same basis they were $594,922.

Recorded health costs in Vancouver for 1932 were $95,625, and in Victoria, $14,036.

Provincial figures do not segregate relief costs, but indicate a combined outlay of around $1,500,000 by three governmental agencies for the two cities in the same year. Of this, $500,000 is traceable as direct Vancouver cost, and $90,000 as direct Victoria cost, on relief in 1932. Corrected totals for relief would be more, rather than less, than those shown, it is believed.

Vancouver estimated its cost of social services this year at approximately $352,000, while Victoria estimated about $55,000.

PROCEDURE AGREED ON FOR CONFERENCE

Francois Pietri, Louis Aubert and Rene Massigli, for France; Norman H. Davis, American ambassador-at-large; Hugh Wilson, ambassador to Switzerland, and Ferdinand L. Mayer, counsellor of the American Embassy at Brussels, represented the United States.

DECIDED ON STAND

LONDON, June 7 (CP-AP).—The British Government had decided to stand firmly against disarmament proposals of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, an official source revealed today, and to work at Geneva in behalf of a breathing spell during which political difficulties can be cleared up.

This was made known prior to tonight's announcement from Geneva that representatives of Great Britain, France and the United States had agreed on a programme for the disarmament conference.

The British delegate, Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, was instructed to attempt to induce the French to agree to the sine die adjournment of the disarmament conference suggested by its president, Arthur Henderson.

ARCHBISHOP'S VIEW

The Archbishop of Canterbury, in an address before the convocation of the Province of Canterbury today, said he "cannot help but deplore the attitude of M. Barthou."

"I should have thought the real risk to France lay in perpetuating enmity with Germany," he said. "If France almost contemptuously rejects even the most reasonable proposals Germany puts forward, then it is certain this element of risk must be deepened."

The reference was taken to be to French refusal to agree to a plan which would have allowed Germany some rearmament while other nations retained their present strength.

CUT DOWN WAGES TO MEET COMPETITION

auditor, of Toronto, on the stand. Particular attention was paid to spreads between cost and selling prices, which sometimes ran as high as 200 or 300 per cent.

A SIGNIFICANT LOSS

Since 1928, the mail order department of Simpson's, with branches at Toronto, Regina and Halifax, has lost money. This statement caused Chairman H. H. Stevens to tell his fellow members they should note it because of the country-wide competition of mail order houses with small town merchants.

Net profits from the mail order branch of the company were registered in 1924, 1926, 1927 and 1928. Then came a trail of red ink—a loss of $332,598 in 1929; $82,493 in 1930; $175,900 in 1932; $472,276 in 1932 and $172,870 last year.

This was due primarily, said the committee auditor, to reduced sales, which fell 50 per cent between 1924 and 1933. Losses were not confined to the Toronto depot, but extended to Regina and Halifax as well.

Delivery charges have been added to prices set forth in the mail order catalogues, the auditor said, express fees and parcel post rates. The firm spent $835,000 last year in printing catalogues, with which they blanketed the country.

A STEADY AVERAGE

The committee was told the mark-up—spread between cost and selling prices—had increased materially recently in some departments, although the average for the store had remained about 50 per cent for some years. Long lists of spreads were read out—101 per cent on sewing cabinets; men's suits, 143.3, 106 and less; girls' coats, 231, 202 and 158; dresses, 271, 252 and 287; capes, 374, 271 and others running to smaller figures.

The Simpson Company put on a sale designed to speed up employment, in which advertising manufacturers would donate goods at cost. In this sale, Simpson's placed 1,300 pairs of shoes, which cost $3.61 and which sold for $4.19, a mark-up of 16 per cent, and 612 others with a spread of 17 per cent.

LARGE DISCOUNTS

The committee secured fresh evidence on the large discounts granted quantity buyers by manufacturers of rubber footwear. On one order, Simpson's secured discounts of 14, 15 and 2 per cent, and on another, 10, 10, 15 and 2 per cent. It was announced that they would be investigated in view of the strict by-laws of the Rubber Manufacturers' Association on discounts.

When evidence was secured that Simpson's purchased boys' pants for eighty cents a pair, the chairman announced inquiry would be made into labor conditions in the Montreal plant where they were made. The committee, earlier, were told that wages in some Montreal plants making boys' pants ran as low as thirty-five cents a dozen garments.

The evidence showed that initial mark-ups on cost prices of men's pyjamas were 87.42 per cent, and on men's shirts the mark-ups ranged from 38.78 per cent to 70.45 per cent.

In the drug department the mark-up on acetophen was from $1.79 a dozen to $4.20, or 136.64 per cent. The mark-up on one size of milk of magnesia was 120.75 per cent, and 100 per cent on quinine tablets.

HIGHER THAN DRUGS

The inquiry turned its attention to the toilet goods department.

"Generally speaking, the mark-up on toilet goods was higher than on drugs?" asked committee counsel. Witness agreed.

On three dozen triple compacts there had been a mark-up of 150 per cent; on single compacts 140 per cent; on combs 118.88 per cent, and on nail brushes 110.14 per cent. Soaps had the smallest mark-up, of 12.03 and 11.46 per cent.

For 1933 the gross profits of this department as a whole for the Toronto store, after stock write-downs and stock shortages, was 44.76 per cent.

The average mark-up on brushes, witness answered Sam Factor (Liberal, Toronto, West Centre), was 50 per cent.

MISLEADING ADVERTISING

Two members, including Chairman H. H. Stevens, agreed on one instance of "misleading advertising" when Simpson's advertised 1,500 coats at $25 with hundreds at $35 value and some as high as $65.

Actually, the coats made in Simpson factories were marked up 69.9 per cent on cost. Of the 827 bought from outside firms, the mark-up was as high as 89.10 per cent with an average of 52.72 per cent. Of the 1,500 coats, 600 cost less than $15.

The Robert Simpson Company depends on the bargaining power of its buyers to determine the quantity discount it receives from manufacturers. The discount will run as high as the buyer can reach and the manufacturer will stand.

This information was given to the committee by its investigating auditor, George Adamson, Toronto.

Along with all departmental stores, Simpson's also receives free goods from manufacturers, said the auditor, to take the place of discounts. He instanced an order of five gross of quinine to which the drug manufacturer added ten dozen as a bonus. This practice, which seemed general among durg distributors, sometimes permitted Simpson's to make a fair profit at a figure lower than the cost price of individual retailers.

MARKETING BILL IS GIVEN THIRD READING

"This legislation is for Canada and Canadians."

HAS NO APOLOGIES

"I have no apologies to offer for the trade agreements of 1932," the Prime Minister added. "But for those Ottawa agreements this country could barely have survived."

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, (Lib., Melville), Minister of Agriculture in the Government of Mr. Mackenzie King, who was one of the bitterest critics of the measure, split with his party in order to support it, because, he said, imperfect as he found it in detail, the principle of assisting the farmers to secure a better return for their effort was one he could not oppose. He was the sole Liberal supporter. All of the Progressive group supported the measure and the Conservatives voted solidly. The two different members, Henri Bourassa (Labelle), and A. W. Neill (Comox, Alberni), voted with the Liberal Opposition.

MANY LIBERALS ABSENT

Thomas Reid (Lib., New Westminster), who voted for the bill on second reading, was not in the House when the final decision was taken tonight, and many of the Liberal benches were vacant.

Throughout the protracted Liberal attack the theme was a charge that the bill delegated to subordinate bodies certain prerogatives that were Parliament's alone, and that it contemplated legislation by order-in-council that should be enacted only with the consent of Parliament.

Added to that was the more general charge that the rights of minorities were to be violated in permitting majority groups of producers to set up marketing schemes to which the minority would be required to subscribe.

To the charge that minorities would be subscribed to compulsion, the Prime Minister replied that every member in the House, who was not elected by acclamation, was there in spite of the wishes of a minority.

That was the theory of Government and all the acts of Parliament were by virtue of a majority.

This history of the human race had shown in recent years that more and more there was a tendency that the combined effort of all should be exerted to assist the efforts of one.

In the measure under discussion, the sole endeavor was to enable the producer to so regulate and control the marketing of his products that he might secure a more reasonable return for the labor he put into production.

Earlier in the day the House had defeated, by a vote of ninety-three to forty-four, a motion by Mr. Mackenzie King that the bill be referred back to committee of the whole House for amendments to clauses found objectionable by the Opposition.

LONDON, June 7 (CP-AP).—Sir Oswald Mosley's black-shirted Fascists, some of them in evening clothes, battled razor-wielding opponents, said to be Communists, in London's West End tonight in the most serious disturbance of Fascism's career in Britain. More than 100 were injured, some of them seriously, a score or more combatants were arrested.

PREMIER WILL SPEAK AT NOON

Hon. T. D. Pattullo to Be Guest Speaker at Chamber Luncheon Today

With Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Premier of British Columbia, as the principal speaker, the annual meeting and luncheon of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will take place at 12:10 o'clock, today, in the crystal ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., retiring president of the Chamber, will occupy the chair, and give a brief report on the activities of the organization during the last twelve months. Mayor David Leeming will install the newly-elected officers, W. T. Straith as president, and Harold Husband as vice-president.

Other organizations who will have members present at this meeting will be the Capital City Commercial Club, the Victoria Real Estate Board and the Credit Granters' Association. Reports will be brief, and will deal with finances and general business of the Chamber.

dinner. Captain George Yardley assured the passengers, however, that there was no cause for alarm, but instructed them to return quietly to their staterooms and put on life-preservers.

Soon smoke was pouring into many cabins in the after part of the vessel, and the passengers took to the decks.

FOUGHT WITH STEAM

There they remained until midnight, while the crew battled the blaze with live steam, and finally got it in hand. The lifeboats were made ready as the crew fought. The ship was about 150 miles out of Honolulu, westbound from San Pedro, when the fire was discovered. It was in a hold which contained cotton as a part of the cargo.

After ascertaining that the fire was under control, Captain Yardley told the passengers they might return to their staterooms, but many of them remained on the decks until Honolulu was in sight.

The lower decks of the vessel were still almost untenable, because of smoke, when the vessel docked.

NOBODY ALARMED

"Nobody was alarmed at any time," said one passenger to interviewers. "We got up quietly from the dinner table when it was announced the ship was on fire. We followed instructions and went on deck.

"Lifeboats were swung out. We put on life preservers, which officers instructed us to bring from our staterooms. We stayed on deck and kept the life preservers on until about midnight, when we were told there was no more danger."

Four vessels prepared to go to the aid of the Lincoln when word of the fire was broadcast. Two of these, however, were instructed almost immediately to turn back. The Sunaddin stood by, however, and the coastguard cutter Itasca went out and escorted the liner into the harbor.

WIN COMPETITION FOR WALTZ CHAMPIONSHIP

Mrs. D. Proudlove and George Watson were the winners of the competition for the waltz championship of Vancouver Island at the dance of the Victoria Junior Softball League at the Shrine Auditorium last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodburn, the former of the Victoria Fire Department, were second, and Mr. and Mrs. Bowell were third.

Miss Florence Clough and F. Heansky were the judges and their decision met with the unanimous approval of the large number present.

Legislation Is Sought To Save Wild Flowers

Society Strikes Committee to Draft Steps to Be Taken and Wait Upon Government—Natural Beauty of Province Should Be Preserved

Lively interest was taken in the public meeting held last night in the City Hall, under the auspices of the Society for the Protection of Native Plants and Flowers, for the purpose of discussing ways and means of obtaining legislation that might minimize the amount of destructiveness that occurs annually, when Spring flowers are in bloom particularly.

As a result of the discussion, a committee was appointed to discuss what provisions could be made, and what steps would be advisable to take to secure the necessary legislation.

After the committee has reported back to the society to see that its views are in comformity with those of a majority of the organization, the members will approach the deputy minister of agriculture and the deputy attorney-general with a view to securing their co-operation in placing the matter before the Government.

THE COMMITTEE

The membership of this committee is as follows: F. B. Pemberton, chairman; Alderman John Worthington, Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, A. R. Sherwood, C. C. French, P. R. Leighton, Mrs. Hugh McKenzie, Mrs. J. A. Lorimer, Mrs. Hebden Gillespie, H. Whiteoak, W. A. Newcombe and C. C. Pemberton.

F. B. Pemberton presided over the meeting, and explained to those present what the society had done so far toward minimizing the destructiveness. There were many delegates from various public bodies present, who voiced their appreciation of what had been done.

The City Council was thanked for having put a stop to the sale of wild flowers in the public market, but will be asked if it has power to regulate the sale of wild flowers in private stores.

WANTS WIDER SCOPE

A. R. Sherwood, in supporting the move to secure legislation to protect wild flowers, visualized Beacon Hill Park once again carpeted with beautiful native flowers. He thought, however, that the scope of the organization should be widened to take in big timbers, which also were being destroyed by high-lead logging.

C. C. Pemberton spoke of the duty of the province in preserving its natural beauty for tourists to enjoy. Much money was spent to attract tourists to the province, so that everything should be done to protect the natural beauties of the country, which was one of its greatest assets.

Mr. French, in advocating that steps be taken to protect native plants, said that an active committee should be appointed to carry the work through to consummation.

Dr. A. G. Price suggested that picking of wild flowers be licensed much in the same manner as fishing was licensed. P. R. Leighton informed the meeting that the power already existed to prevent the picking of wild flowers. He said there was the law of trespassing on private property, while the various municipal bodies could pass regulations forbidding picking of wild flowers in parks.

DISCUSSION GENERAL

The discussion was quite general. Mr. Newcombe explained that provision would have to be made for teachers, Normal students and others who wished to pick flowers for the study of biology. Commercial florists also might feel they were being discriminated against if they were denied the right to secure native plants for rock gardens. This might be overcome through a licensing system, it was explained.

Lack of funds by which to finance the campaign for protective measures was brought to the attention of the meeting, and it was decided to ask all public organizations to assist by having their members take out membership in the society. Each organization will be asked to support the aims and objects of the organization.

May Fill Vacancy On School Board Without Election

THE City School Board, at its meeting next Wednesday, will take under advisement the question of filling the vacancy on the board created by the death of Trustee J. L. Beckwith.

It is probable the vacancy will be filled by appointment, instead of through a by-election, which would cause considerable expense. The Municipal Act provides for appointment to fill a vacancy, and it is probable that this course will be adopted.

What Today Means

"GEMINI"

If June 8 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 a.m., from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 6 to 8 a.m., from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 9 to 11 p.m.

Business activities in the morning very likely will be brisk, but as the day wears on, there will be possibly an evidence of a desire to put off interviews and decisions. There will be a great deal of money exchanging hands on this day and apparently some of it will find its way into yours. In a social conversation you will be regaled with some gossip concerning a friend. It might be well for you to remember if one friend will talk about a mutual acquaintance, they will not hesitate to also converse about you, so be very guarded regarding anything you say. This is a good day to lay plans for social gatherings and the extending as well as the accepting of invitations. If you cannot keep in close personal contact with the telephone on this date, arrange that some one will receive any messages, as there is a strong likelihood some one will try this medium to communicate with you. Sentimental couples will have no bones of contention to litter their pathways and will find life alluring and rosy hued. Avoid being evasive in answering questions.

The woman born on June 8 is partial, in the way of recreation, to literature. If born on this date, it might be advisable to refrain from indulging in indiscriminate reading, and to start making it a practice of selecting your books with care. Too much valuable time can be spent reading trash. As the educational field offers women of your type unlimited opportunities, as does also the literary, books dealing with child psychology may prove to be valuable. If married life appeals to you, an early marriage is recommended, for you have the qualities that would make motherhood a great joy.

The child born on June 8, when going through the age of adolescence, will require sympathetic supervision and training. Its character in later years will reflect, to a great degree, lasting impressions its very impressionistic mind has received during its formative years in its home environment. Vulgarity and harshness must never be allowed to taint this child's mind. Possessing a sensitive nature, its feeling can be easily hurt.

If a man and born on June 8, your honesty and sincerity of purpose, combined with an indomitable amount of will, shall prove the requisite qualities needed to gain a gratifying position in social, business, as well as civic affairs. If on this day you remember to "do unto others as you would have them do unto you," your results will prove gratifying.

DOMINION DAY PLANS ARE MADE

Ald. T. W. Hawkins Chosen Chairman—Sport Activities Arranged

WILL HOLD SUNDAY OPEN AIR CONCERT

ALDERMAN T. W. HAWKINS

The first rough draft of the Dominion Day celebration programme was made at last night's meeting of the general committee. Officers were elected and committee chairmen named. Alderman T. W. Hawkins, who was chairman of the celebration in former years, was again elected last night.

Other officers are Edwin C. Smith, treasurer; R. D. MacLachlan, secretary; Mayor David Leeming and Reginald Hayward, honorary chairmen.

NAME CHAIRMEN

The committee chairmen are as follows: Music and parade, George Dyson; regatta, Arthur H. Cox; baseball, Charles Fea; prizes, A. H. Cox; finance, Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, and sports, Ray Ditchburn.

Tentatively it has been arranged that two baseball games be played on July 2, one possibly in the morning and another in the evening, between an outside team and the Native Sons of Canada.

A parade would be held in the morning, and this would be followed by a children's sports meet at the Royal Athletic Park in the afternoon, under the proposed programme.

REGATTA PLANS

Also in the afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the annual regatta would be held. It is hoped this year to have through-Victoria races not only for the fours, but also two eights, possibly one from the University of Washington and the other from the J.B.A.A. The one for the fours would be for the Native Sons of Canada Trophy.

On Sunday, July 1, which is Dominion Day, an open air concert in Parliament Square is proposed. It is hoped to be able to get 100 male voices and a band for the occasion.

The committee has $750 to start the celebration with, and it is hoped that those who can do so will make subscriptions to the fund so that the celebration will be a success.

CLUB TO CAMP AT SOOKE SOON

June 30 to July 8 Set as Dates for Alpine Group's Annual Outing

Between thirty and forty members of the Vancouver Island section of the Alpine Club of Canada will go under canvas from June 30 to July 8, inclusive, at the new cabin near the Lake of the Seven Hills, Sooke.

This outdoor camp is one of the features of this club's yearly schedule. Mountain climbing and hiking, within a radius of from fifteen to twenty miles, will be included on the programme. Various woodcraft experiments and tests will be carried out.

The new cabin, which replaced the one burned down some time ago, was erected from insurance funds received from the old structure. It has been well equipped for members' accommodation.

Special ceremonies will mark the official opening of the cabin on July 1. F. Neel has been appointed camp cook.

ALONE ALL NIGHT WITH BROKEN LEG

Woman at Quathiaski Cove Has Painful Accident When Feeding Chickens

CAMPBELL RIVER, June 7.—Mrs. Bryant, of Quathiaski Cove, mother of Mrs. F. Gagne and Mr. Dick Bryant, had a very unfortunate accident last Wednesday.

As she started to go out and feed the chickens she tripped and broke her leg above the knee.

As she was alone she could get no help and lay on the floor from Wednesday afternoon to Thursday morning, when a young boy going to school called in to see if she wanted anything. He notified others and she was brought to the local hospital, where she is doing as well as can be expected.

Local Pastor Is Bachelor Of Theology

The degree of Bachelor of Theology was awarded Rev. J. B. Rowell, of the Central Baptist Church, here, by the senate of the Baptist Theological College, Los Angeles, at its annual convocation, on May 30.

This degree was attained by several years of study by correspondence and the presentation by Mr. Rowell of several theses, and was given in absentia. Rev. William A. Matthews, DD., L.L.D., is principal of the college.

FORMING UNION OF THEIR OWN

Conservative and Real Stevedores Realize That Agitators Control Situation

One of the most hopeful signs that has so far developed in the local strike situation, says The Daily Commercial News, of San Francisco, is the report that the conservative and real stevedores, who were coerced into going out on strike, are getting tired of their radical allies and their methods, and are planning to withdraw from the International Longshoremen's Association and form a union of their own; also, they plan to deal direct themselves with the Waterfront Employers' Union and go back to work.

"That seems to be a most sensible thing to do," comments the journal; "go back to work and leave the agitators and the reds to agitate among themselves, and see what happens.

"Then, if we could only prevail on the United States Immigration Service to do its duty and round up this bunch and see how many of them are really citizens, and then deport those that are not, we can get back to normal here, and men who are willing to work at the occupation of stevedoring can do so without danger of being 'beaten up,' or worse, crippled for life."

BOARD ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

N. M. Foulkes, President of Ladysmith Body, Has Ambitious Programme

LADYSMITH, June 7.—Three new members were elected to the Board of Trade here last evening at the regular monthly session. Election of new officers resulted in N. M. Foulkes becoming president, J. King vice-president and Dr. A. T. Verchere secretary-treasurer. All nominations and elections were unanimous.

Past President W. W. Walkem, J. King and F. Rowe, together with President N. M. Foulkes, were appointed delegates to the annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island, to be held in Duncan in July.

In his inaugural address to the members, the new president sounded an ambitious note for his programme, which visualizes a revivified Ladysmith as the centre of homecraft industry, an ideal settling town for the retired man with moderate means, and a tangible attraction for the tourists, who have hitherto passed the city by.

WILL START CLASSES FOR MATRICULATION

DUNCAN, June 7.—At last night's meeting of the Duncan Consolidated School Board it was resolved to authorize the formation of senior matriculation classes in Duncan High School at the opening of the school term in September. Fees for this tuition have been set at $80 per annum. During the continuance of these classes the high school staff will be expected to work an extra period in the afternoon, for which extra period an additional sum of $8 a month is authorized over and above the regular salaries now paid by the board. The foregoing is automatically rescinded for any year in which less than five students enroll for such tuition.

Last Rites for A. F. Robillard Well Attended

Funeral service for the late Arthur Francois Robillard were held, Thursday morning, at 9 o'clock at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Rev. Father Gaudette celebrating Requiem Mass.

There was a large congregation of sorrowing friends, and the large number of beautiful floral tributes received gave mute testimony to the great esteem in which Mr. Robillard was held.

The pallbearers were: A. Lacourciere, O. Notte, F. J. Sehl, V. Griffaton, L. S. Hagan and L. B. Bing. Interment was made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

START TO FILL NEW RESERVOIR

Water Running Into Storage Basin at Courtenay Yesterday

COURTENAY, June 7.—Water started to run into the newly-constructed 500,000-gallon reservoir, which will supply the city and surrounding district on Thursday. During the filling of the large storage basin a watchman with a lifebelt will be in readiness in case of need. Brown's River is the source of supply from the crystal waters of the lakes in the Forbidden Plateau.

A very favorable report covering the Comox water extension for the past year showed a revenue of $1,868.

A discussion of the dust nuisance on the city streets terminated in a decision to test out the use of calcium chloride. If this fails to abate the nuisance it is hoped to make use of oil on the sides of the streets that are not hard surface.

The light reduction by-law, reducing the cost of electric power and light to consumers, received its third and final reading, but will not be effective until October next.

Endorsation was given to a resolution passed by a recent meeting of the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade to petition the Dominion Public Works Department, to enlarge the harbor for fishing boats by means of further dredging the basin in the Courtenay River.

Michael Perez complained of damage to his house property in the Orchard district, where windows had been repeatedly broken.

WAR DEBT DISCLOSURES

There are some essential facts connected with Britain's debt to the United States arising out of operations of the Great War that are not generally known. They were discovered through the incentive of Mr. Arthur Roberts, of St. James Palace Chambers, who put Mr. G. T. Hallinan, a well-known chartered accountant, to work on an audit and analysis of the American budgets of the relevant years. Here are the essential facts he discovered.

In connection with the "War Loans" no American money crossed the Atlantic to Britain. What the United States did was to grant a credit. American manufacturers supplied Britain with munitions and other goods. The American Treasury paid their bills as Britain's agent and debited Britain with the amounts disbursed. That was the genesis of the loans eventually funded. The American manufacturers, as is now widely recognized, profiteered at the expense of Britain. Their charges were so high that the American Government imposed a heavy tax on them. This operation reduced the net cost of the goods to the American Government. The amount paid out by the American Government for goods supplied to Britain by American manufacturers was approximately £1,440,000,000. The amount recovered from those manufacturers by taxes imposed by the American Government was approximately £720,000,000. Britain, however, received a bill for the full £1,440,000,000 and continued, until token payments began, to pay interest on this amount.

The situation now is that some substantial cash payments have been made, and the total amount now claimed from Britain by the United States, as stated by Mr. Neville Chamberlain, is £815,000,000. No deduction was made by the American Government because of the £720,000,000 taken back into the American Treasury as excess profits duty. Were that amount taken into account the total of the debt now owed by Britain would not quite reach £100,000,000. This is an aspect of the debt situation that has not been sufficiently canvassed. Because of the character of the operations which led to the accumulation of the debt the United States Treasury was able to benefit to the extent of £720,000,000, with which it is now charging Britain. If Britain ultimately paid what is demanded she would be taxed to that extent, altogether apart from interest, for the benefit of the American taxpayers. The token payments made on the last two half-yearly installment of the debt represent interest at 3½ per cent on £100,000,000, which is the amount that would seem to be legitimately owed.

IN FRANKLIN'S TRACKS

The latest Arctic expedition which has left Britain is of peculiar interest to this country because the region to be explored lies within the Canadian Arctic Preserve established by Ottawa to protect the wild life. The expedition will follow the tracks of Franklin. It is a private venture, its purpose being to make collections of geological and other specimens and to map the coastline of the Canadian Arctic islands. Proceeding from Aberdeen, the first stopping point will be Disko Island in Northwest Greenland, where a depot of fuel oil has been arranged. The ship, a Norwegian sealer, the Heimen, will then proceed across Melville Bay to Cape York, where Sir John Ross found his "Arctic Highlanders." From there it will go across Smith Sound to Ellesmere Land, where parties will be dispatched to explore the unknown interior. By August, it is expected, if ice conditions permit, the ship will enter Lancaster Sound and attempt to reach Melville Island. Before the open season for navigation ends the ship will return either through Lancaster Sound to Baffin Bay or by such other route as is permitted by the ice conditions, or, alternatively, if ice conditions make it possible, across McClure Strait to Banks Land and the mouth of the Mackenzie River and westwards to Point Barrow.

The leader of the expedition is Mr. J. M. Wordie, of St. John's College, Cambridge. He is accompanied by Dr. T. G. Longstaff, Mr. C. T. Dalgety, Sir John Hanham, Mr. H. P. Hanham, Mr. M. H. W. Ritchie, Mr. P. D. Baird, Mr. T. T. Paterson, and Lieutenant W. E. Fletcher, who has been lent by the Admiralty.

BRITISH SHIPPING

The extent to which Britain has lost a share, proportionately speaking, of the carrying trade of the world is not due to any deterioration in her ships. It is due to the large subsidies, amounting to £30,000,000 a year, given by foreign governments to their merchant marine. The ships of those nations are able to trade profitably at rates of freight so low that British ships, without subsidies, cannot earn sufficient to provide for their annual depreciation and interest on capital. This has especially applied to British tramp shipping tonnage.

The issue thus raised continues to agitate marine circles in Britain. The first indication of governmental assistance has come through the guarantee of moneys necessary to complete the new Cunarder. There is a hope that tramp shipping will be fostered by temporary subsidies. Other British trades are being protected by subsidies, through tariffs, yet there is no trade so vital to Britain and the Empire as shipping. The principle of subsidies is, of course, all wrong. When, however, other nations have adopted this method of aiding their shipping it is only by similar protection that the British merchant marine can thrive. It is significant of the state of British shipping when one of the chief shipbuilders in the country should definitely advise against the building of more ships. Mr. G. B. Hunter, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, says:

"It is entirely delusive to think any improved or more economical ships that we can build can earn dividends at present rates on freight, or can enable us to regain or maintain our due share of world shipping. Other nations can, and will, build improved ships as well and as fast as we can. Building more ships before they are needed will only further depress freights. Shipowners will not, and ought not to, order new ships until either freights are raised or a subsidy given. To scrap any useful ships is a waste of capital."

MR. EDWARD WHITE

It is not only a past generation that remembers Mr. Edward White. He was known and respected by scores of citizens, many of whom may be only comparatively recent residents of Victoria. Mr. White was associated with the church, social and business life of early Victoria. Nearly seventy years of his life were spent here. He has died in his ninety-fourth year and his life has been lived to the full, for almost to the end he could have been found any day in his real estate office busy at his work or renewing old acquaintances on the streets. His bonhommie was wonderfully preserved; he had always the pleasant anecdote to tell, the interesting experience to recall, and whatever he related possessed a wealth of interest to everyone who took pleasure in learning of early history in this community.

Mr. White was a noted amateur entertainer in his younger days. He was young at seventy and young at eighty, and long after passing the allotted span he was still an entertainer even if his voice was not as powerful as in his more halcyon years. There were few Victorians better posted on old-time happenings than he was. He was one of the Old Guard who has passed. Very deep sympathy will go out to his widow, his sons and daughters who survive.

THE NEW MODERATOR

The election of Rev. James Shortt, D.D., of Barrie, Ont., to the position of Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, now in session in Toronto, will be approved by the church at large. Dr. Shortt was one of the nominees of last year's Assembly and his election this year is a tribute to one of its most faithful and honored ministers. He stands high in the judgment of his fellow presbyters as a good preacher, a greatly esteemed pastor, and for his capacity for friendship. He is a member of the church's Board of Administration and of the Senate of Knox College. Of robust health and in the prime of life, the new Moderator will likely be able to give considerable time and energy to the visitation of presbyteries and other moderatorial duties. Victoria may expect a visit from this church leader during the next twelvemonth.

Much of the world's unrest may be due to the fact that people are becoming so much more moderate in their gastronomic habits. There are no statistics available, but the probability is that people in all grades of society are eating less today than they ever did before, and doing so not from necessity but from choice. There is certainly a change noticeable in public dinners. The Canada Club of London is one of the oldest of dining clubs, as it began its career in 1810. Half a century ago, when members dined, they were expected to dispose of two bottles of port and go steadily through a meal consisting of turtle soup, four or five different kinds of fish, two or three entrees and several courses of poultry, together with joints, marrow bones, plovers' eggs, ham, asparagus, and half-a-dozen sweets.

LIFE

O Human destiny! thou art a mystery
Which tasks the o'er-wearied intellect in vain;
A world thou art of cabalistic history
Whose lessons madden and destroy the brain.
O Life!—whose page, a necromantic scroll
Is charactered with sentences of terror
Which, like the shapes on a magician's mirror,
At once bewilder and appal the soul—
We blindly roam thy labyrinth of error,
And clasp a phantom when we gain thy goal!
Yet roll, thou troubled flood of Time! Still bear
Thy base wrecks to the whirlgulfs of the past—
But Man and Heaven will bless thee if thou hast
Spared for their final sphere the Noble and the Fair.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity. —Psalms.

If local, municipal, provincial or Dominion political issues are too trivial for superior persons to bother their heads about, there is a major political issue under discussion which should be worthy of the consideration of all sorts and conditions of citizens and subjects of the British Empire. We assume that there are still many citizens of Canada who are not too proud to disdain the idea of being subjects of the King of Great Britain, notwithstanding the popularity in certain political circles of the words sovereignty, autonomy, independence and liberty. The major political issue is international in its scope. It is the issue of war debts.

The people of Canada are, of course, not directly interested in the international question of war debts. That issue is between the big nations of Europe and the republic of the United States, and it is an important issue between Great Britain and the United States. But we assume—in fact, we are positive—that a large majority of the people of Canada are deeply, although indirectly, interested in the big issue of war debts. In this big international issue there is not only the question of the payment of certain moneys to be considered. There is the question of honor of Great Britain to be considered. Great Britain has her reputation to maintain as a power which has never failed to meet her just and honorable obligations.

We know what the mere politicians of the United States will say about this thing. They will say that the British are shirkers. Some of them will repeat what they already have said, that the British are welshers. But we must not permit our sensibilities to be ruffled by the publication of such offensive terms. There are statesmen in the United States who will take the larger view, who will admit that the matter is not one for vituperaton, but for sane and mature consideration. Statesmen have admitted that mistakes were made in the beginning with regard to the allocation of war debts. Statesmen declared in the beginning that the war debts could never be settled on the basis of treaties arranged immediately after the end of the war.

Politicians, on the other hand, have held that the war debts must be paid in strict accord with the terms of the treaties. That will be the stand of the politicians of the United States, at least until after the November Congressional elections. It was in deference to this sentiment or prejudice that President Roosevelt refused to consider immediate revision of the debts owed the United States by Great Britain.

* * *

But the vital issue was bound to be raised sooner or later. It has been raised by the Chancellor of the British Exchequer. The statement made in Parliament by Mr. Chamberlain was a complete exposition of the case. Great Britain was prepared to meet her obligations when they were demonstrated to be just obligations, not charges laid upon her under a hypothesis that because she had the ability to pay she should be expected to pay. Great Britain had already discharged half of her obligations, but while she had done that, owing to high and accrued rates of interest after she had done it, the total amount of the debt was as large as it was before a pound had been paid.

The debts were not all originally contracted on behalf of Great Britain. They were incurred on behalf of all the nations engaged in the war, including morally the United States, for the necessity of winning the war was a common necessity. On the advice of the statesmen and financiers of the United States Great Britain released all her debtors from their obligations, but under pressure of American politicians no relief was afforded British taxpayers. The sums were nominated in the bond, and they must be paid. The matter thus assumed some justification for allegations of usury. Under the conditions sought to be imposed the war debts of Great Britain to the United States might have remained a perpetual charge against the taxpayers of Great Britain.

Obviously there must be reconsideration and readjustment. If the relations between the two great nations are to be what everybody in Great Britain and nearly everybody in the United States admit they should be, the issue must be taken out of international politics and settled upon terms which can be met by the debtor and in the best interests of the creditor. Far transcending all other questions, there is the question of cordial relations between the two dominant nations of the world, upon which is directly dependent dissipation of the depression which still hangs like a pall over the United States.

THE ICE AGE

Sir,—The conclusions of Dr. A. P. Coleman, published in Tuesday's Colonist, are very remarkable, furnishing a complete verification of the explanation given in "The Cause, Date and Duration of the Last Glacial Epoch of Geology," a book published sixty years ago by an astronomer named Drayson. I will show this.

Dr. Coleman's main conclusions are: 1. Ontario was in the grip of an ice age 16,000 years ago. 2. The end of the ice age in Canada occured in Canada about 8,000 years ago. 3. At least three such ice ages, which have sent glaciers over Ontario, can be traced; thus showing that it is a periodical phenomenon. 4. At the present time the temperature in the polar regions is high enough to melt the ice faster than it can spread.

Drayson's explanation of the ice age, an astronomical one, was this: 1. There is a Great Year covering a period of some 32,000 of our common years, during which period the inclination of the earth's axis (sometimes called the earth's "tilt") increases from its present 23½ degrees to half-again-as-much, i.e., 35½ degrees. 2. We are now approaching the minimum inclination, which will be reached about A.D. 2300. 3. It follows that the maximum occurred about 16,000 years ago, at which time the ice-caps would necessarily be increased by the same amount, and would extend down to at least 54 degrees of North latitude. 4. The mean inclination of about thirty degrees will have been reached about 8,000 years ago, at which time the "Winter" of the Great Year will have given place to its "Spring," and the ice age will have ended, since when the ice-caps will have been progressively shrinking. In short, the analogy with Winter and Spring is complete.

To supplement this bald outline, which I have put thus crudely in order to throw into relief the identity with Dr. Coleman's conclusions, I am sending you a small book on the climatological and geological features of this discovery, in case any of your staff are interested in the matter. The astronomical details are dealt with elsewhere.

"THE COMFORTER"

Sir,—Reading a few days ago about the "Life Insurance Week," recently held in our city, reminded us of that much-admired picture called "The Comforter," which appeared a few years ago on a calendar issued by a Canadian life insurance company. So great was the demand for it, that the company had it enlarged and sent, free of charge, to everyone asking for same. And today in many homes can still be seen the picture of that puritanic old lady sitting in her pew holding open before her the book of books, her face evidencing the comfort she receives from its reading and reverberating "that true Light (which is Christ) that lighteth every man that cometh into the world."

Many good and clever books have been written, for which we thank God, but of no other book than the Bible can it be said: 'All Scripture is given by inspiration of God and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished into all good works."

Had the book, which that lady is depicted as reading, been any other book than the Bible, there would not have been nearly as great a demand for that picture, for the simple reason that deep down in the human soul there lies dormant, as it were, a longing for the things of God, readily awakened and responding to the spiritual and supernatural, which only God's own Word can satisfy.

Little did that life insurance company think that by endeavoring to promote its own interests it helped, in a measure, the eternal life insurance business in which the church, under the leading of the Holy Spirit, has been engaged in since its foundation on the day of Pentecost, 1,900 years ago.

It is in instances such as the foregoing one that, in spite of so many appearances to the contrary, we realize that today as of old: "God has yet left Him 7,000 in Israel, all the knees which have not bowed unto Baal"; for quite a few are still devoted to God and His Word who alone can be rightfully, and is so appreciatively, called: "The Comforter."

WATER COLORS EXHIBITION

Sir,—The present exhibition by the Royal Scottish Society of Painters in Water Colors, made by the National Gallery of Canada, is one that should be missed by no one who is interested in art or pictures at all. Not only is it a splendid exhibition from an artistic point of view, but also from an educational one, of immense value.

The exhibition is free, and possibly as good a one as we have ever had the privilege of seeing in Victoria. There are some exceptionally good pictures, notably sea pieces, architectural ones, a very splendid one of a quarry, two Alsatians, a pigeon with fir cones, some horses, a Jacobite on the eve of Culloden, a very fine one of four figures on a beach, but it is very difficult indeed to pick out outstanding pictures, as there are so many good ones. My advice to everyone interested is on no account to miss what is really one of the best loan exhibitions we have ever had out here.

The Arts & Crafts Society is to be congratulated on having been able to get this exhibition here, and in a place so well lighted as the sun room of the Windermere Hotel.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of June 8, 1884)

School Vote—It is generally conceded by legal and lay authorities that although but two school trustees can be elected for each ward, each qualified voter is entitled to vote in all three of the wards. The voter, however, can only vote for two candidates in each ward.

Reduced to Ranks—A circumstance of rather a novel nature took place on Saturday evening shortly after the school of gunnery reached camp. A non-commissioned officer of convivial tendencies having surreptitiously brought a goodly supply of liquor into the camp, in spite of explicit orders to the contrary, was taken in charge by a corporal's guard and marched before the commanding officer. As the culprit was caught red-handed and no sufficient excuse forthcoming, the C.O. immediately ordered the N.C.O. reduced to the ranks, which was done forthwith.

Daily Times—This new candidate for popular favor made its appearance yesterday. It is printed from new type on excellent paper and is well filled with local matter. Its leaders give evidence of vigor and good sense, and the general get up of the journal is very creditable. We wish our neighbor all the success to which he may establish his claim.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 19.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A REMARKABLE HAND

A hand that stretches itself to accommodate the contract undertaken by the declarer is rare indeed at the bridge table. The one given below seemed to be built to order. It was dealt in a duplicate game, and whether the declarer undertook a contract of four clubs, five clubs or six clubs, he found that his supply of tricks lasted just long enough to fulfill his contract.

Mr. Alvan L. Davis, of Waterbury, Conn., recently sent me the hand below, which was played in a tournament for mixed pairs at the University Club of Waterbury. In sending the hand, Mr. Davis makes the remark that the board is an exemplification of the Biblical statement that "the last shall be first and the first shall be last."

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

North: ♠ A 8 6 3; ♡ J; ◇ 8 7; ♣ A J 10 9 6 3
West: ♠ 10 5; ♡ 10 8 6 5 3; ◇ K 6 4 3; ♣ Q 5
East: ♠ K Q 9 7; ♡ 9 7 4 2; ◇ A Q 10 9; ♣ 7
South: ♠ J 4 2; ♡ A K Q; ◇ J 5 2; ♣ K 8 4 2

There were eight tables in play, and in every case North played the hand at a club contract. At six of the eight tables North's contract was five clubs. In one case North and South had reached the ambitious contract of six clubs, while in the remaining case North and South were pessimists and bid but four clubs. In every case, strange as it may seem, the declarer made just the necessary tricks to fulfill his contract, and that against a logical opening lead.

At the six tables where five clubs was the contract either a heart or a club was opened by East on the theory of adopting a waiting policy as regards the holdings in diamonds and spades. Where the contract was six clubs, East, with an apparent entry in the diamond ace, decided to establish the setting trick by leading the king of spades, and the only loser for the declarer against this opening was the eventual loss of the spade queen, the declarer's losing diamonds being discarded on the hearts in dummy. Where the bidding was four clubs, the East player, reasoning that he could take many chances, opened a diamond and only four-odd could be made.

As a result, as Mr. Davis remarks, the dangerous bid of six clubs resulted in a high score on the board. The six who bid five clubs drew average scores, while the sound bid of four clubs resulted in a bottom score.

The moral of this story probably is that even sound bridge must have a slight sprinkling of optimism. Perhaps the opponents will not find the best defence.

TOMORROW'S HAND

East, Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

East: ♠ 9 6; ♡ J 10 9 6 5 2; ◇ 8; ♣ J 10 6 2
South: ♠ A J 3 2; ♡ K 7; ◇ A Q 7 4; ♣ A K 9

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Most Famous Ju Ju Man of West Africa Graduated in London

Gordon Sinclair Interviews Doctor Who Admits His Power to Wish Death from a Distance by Mental Poison Waves

By GORDON SINCLAIR

LAGOS, Nigeria.—The most famous and most successful ju ju man in all West Africa is Oguntula Sapara . . . and he learned his ju ju in England! Dr. Sapara graduated from St. Thomas' Hospital, London, forty years ago and returned to his native fever swamps to do something about the abnormal death rate of babies. Only five out of ten Nigerian picaninnies ever saw their first birthday.

Dr. Sapara was so successful that he cut deaths in half and was twice decorated by British kings.

But nothing he had learned in English hospitals and laboratories could shake his boyhood belief in the demon power of ju ju. So he studied that too, and eventually shifted into a combined practice of both. Today he is honored throughout the coastland and listed in Government records as one of the few men who thoroughly understands the terrible power of wishing a man to death.

So a natural question to pop at Dr. Sapara was "What's the difference between native ju ju and orthodox medicine?"

AFRICA, HOME OF CURES

"You white men have the knowledge to cure the sick," the doctor said in a big expansive smile. "We have the materials. Take our native herbal medicines out of the British pharmacopaea and what have you left? One third; two thirds of your entire medicine list has disappeared."

"What medicines, for instance?"

"Well, start with one of the best known of all tonics, Iron. Centuries ago, and to this very hour, men complaining to the medicine men of weakness were, and are, told to go to the blacksmith and get a quart of his dipping water. The water he plunges his red-hot metals in to cool them.

"Into this was placed certain herbs, laxitive and sedative, and after three days the man was told to drink the mixture. It invariably braced him up. We call that ju ju. You call it science."

"Doctor," I went on plunging right off the deep end. "Is it true that thousands of men on this coast can wish others to die and they do very promptly die?"

"Certainly; just as true as the fact that the sun shines."

"Can you do it?" "Certainly."

"Well, how?" "Put it down as hypnotism. It isn't exactly hypnotism, but for that sort of mental poison waves one word is as good as another."

DEATH BY WISHING

"You mean that a man can conjure up poisons in his own body and transfer them by thought wave to the brain of another and these cause death?"

"Exactly." "In what time?"

"Three to seven days . . . not longer."

"But how can such things go on? With all due respect to yourself as ju ju man, how can the Government permit these men to practice. The thing is diabolical."

"Not always," the doctor said with a hard cold look. "But Government takes no action because Government doesn't know."

"Why doesn't the victim rush off and tell them?" "Well, generally the victim hasn't the slightest idea he's being bewitched. He may soon feel extreme dopiness and, if he hurries to another ju ju man, that one, in his diagnosis, can at once tell that his patient has been charmed."

"And can he be cured?" "Sometimes . . . not always . . . but the cure takes a long and wearisome time. You see it affects the brain. The victim becomes thoroughly convinced and satisfied that he is going to die and my African neighbor is above all a fatalist. What is coming is coming. So he dies."

"And can they—or you—bewitch white people?" "Of course, but not so easily. If you seek a slogan for such a tale as this a good one is "He Can Who Thinks He Can." The white man, compared to our race, is one of strong mind. Many undoubtedly could defy a curse and feel no effect whatever . . . but few try that. I had a recent patient, an Englishman who went mad. Quite raving mad. I could tell at once that he had been bewitched but could not cure him. We shipped him home. He is still quite mad."

"And I understand certain poisons can be given people—say a pin prick left by the nail in a biscuit which is broken so that the poisoner eats the safe half—and that no trace of this can be found on careful analysis?"

"Perfectly true."

"And is it possible to kill a man hundreds of miles away without the ju ju man ever seeing him?"

POISON BY "RADIO"

"Yes, an interesting case soon to come to court involves that very practice. The doctor, generally a woman, sits over a simmering cauldron quite as you see witches do on Hallowe'en postcards. She stirs poisons. Wisps of mist float over the edges. She can direct those poisons to the one she wishes to die. They will die but not if there is light in the room where they are located, not if there is noise and not if they are strong willed. But in such cases the poison waves have been broadcast and they must land some place. If light and noises keep them away from the intended victim they float back and poison the sender. The sender, however, can feel the return and protect herself against it with a drum. In fact the drum, which carries rhythms of sound up and down this country quicker than telegraph, can also send these poison mists. Now I know that your readers in Canada will call such a statement utterly absurd and fantastic. A tall tale of the jungle.

"Now I happen to know of definite personal knowledge that Marconi studied that identical piece of magic in this very land and from it built the radio. To see the two pieces of equipment is to realize their similarity at once."

"So that this thing, this poison radio, because it won't work in daylight . . . or in a lighted room . . . that might explain why people are afraid of the dark?"

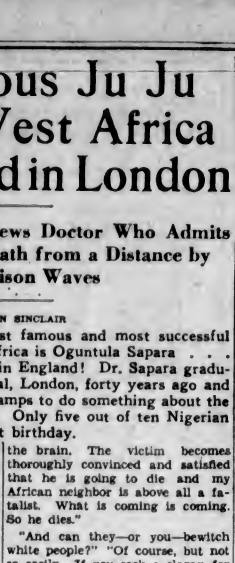

"Quite likely . . . and also why African ceremonies are conducted amid tumult."

But these things were getting me down. Poison thought waves that kill, in three days! And witches actually sitting over cauldron or poison brew to kill innocents many miles away. Dr. Sapara is a scholar and practitioner of national fame. You simply can't dismiss his statements as bunk and tommyrot. He puts forty years of experience with the black arts against your credulity. You are the judges.

Incidentally Dr. Sapara is the reason why Nigerian babies are born in drug stores, not hospitals. Years ago when the first maternity wings were planned at African hospitals his advice was sought in London. He advised strongly against such wings. "You'll never get a Nigerian woman into the place unless you drag her there," he told the committee.

"They look on hospitals as places of disease, terror and torture. Having a baby, to the African, is neither terrible nor torturous. It is certainly not a disease. You should attach your maternity wing to the dispensaries or make them entirely separate." His advice was accepted. In another colony maternity wings were added to hospitals. They are deserted and unused.

Normal School Students Close Term With Dinner

Minister of Education Is Guest of Honor When 125 Gather at Banquet Here Last Night—Provide Entertaining Evening

Students of the Provincial Normal School today bid farewell to classrooms and classmates, and to observe the closing of the Spring and Summer term, members of the student body, members of the school staff and guests gathered in the school auditorium, last night, at a banquet, which 125 attended.

The Normal School, in which the young men and young women secure their training and education to fit them for the teaching profession, has an enrollment of 105, out of the total of 114 who enrolled for the 1933-34 term, commencing last September. Nine of that number left the classes at the Christmas holiday season.

BANQUET AND DANCE

The banquet last night, which was followed by the annual school dance, was a bright affair, and was arranged entirely by the student body, assisted by members of the staff, and presided over by V. L. Denton, principal of the school. The long tables were decorated with bowls of red and white roses and other garden flowers, and spaced with lighted candles, and presented a gay appearance.

The guest of honor was Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Minister of Education, who gave a brief address in reply to a toast, given by Miss Florence M. Morton, to the Department of Education, Miss Morton being a member of the student body. Other guests included Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Willis, Capt. and Mrs. F. G. Dexter, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Creelman, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hurn, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Routley, Miss H. Stewart, G. A. Turner, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fraser. Members of the staff present were V. L. Denton, principal; B. S. Freeman, Harold L. Campbell, F. C. T. Wickett, Dr. H. Southam, Miss B. Hinton, Miss L. Isbister and Miss M. Pottinger.

TOAST TO DEPARTMENT

Following the customary toast to His Majesty, the male chorus of the school, under the direction of James Petch, rendered two numbers. Miss Morton then proposed the toast to the Department of Education, in which she expressed the appreciation of the student body to the department for the assistance given to students to fit them for their chosen profession. She also expressed the hope that the students would, in time, return to the department, through their teaching, some of the value of their earlier training, made possible by the Normal School here.

MINISTER SPEAKS

In replying to the toast, the Minister of Education referred to the economic conditions all over the world, and reminded the students they were living in a period in which transformations were taking place, and it was difficult to say what would occur after the so-called depression had ended. He praised the members of the teaching profession for their loyalty to the ideals of education and the uplifting influence they had on present-day conditions. He briefly reviewed the cost of education to the citizens of Canada, and quoted figures to show how little, when compared with other expenditures of a public nature, education had received over a period of years.

Following Dr. Weir's address, Donald Wood gave a violin solo, accompanied by John Ringwood, who also played the accompaniments of the school songs and chorus. The toast to "Our Guests" was ably given by George R. Gravlin, and replied to by H. S. Hurn and Dr. H. D. Southam. The programme closed with school songs.

PREMIER WILL TOUR PROVINCE

Appearances at Victoria, Vancouver and Prince Rupert Arranged

Premier Pattullo will set out on his first speaking tour of the province, as its chief executive, towards the end of this month, making a start in his home constituency at Prince Rupert, on July 1, he intimated, yesterday.

From Prince Rupert, the Premier will tour Northern ridings in a circuit that has not yet been definitely arranged. Later in the year he will make a speaking trip through Fraser Valley and other Lower Mainland centres.

The Premier has a few more speaking engagements on the Coast before he starts on the Northern tour. Today, he will address the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at the lunch hour at the Empress Hotel. Next Tuesday, he will speak to a combined meeting of the men's and women's Laurier Clubs, in Vancouver.

That will wind up the programme of engagements already accepted. The Premier returned, yesterday morning, from Vancouver, where on Wednesday he had addressed a combined meeting of the Board of Trade and Canadian Club.

ASSUME OFFICES IN ROTARY CLUB

J. Morse Hatt Takes Over Duties, Succeeding C. H. French as President

At the annual meeting of the Rotary Club, held in conjunction with the weekly luncheon, yesterday, in the Empress Hotel, C. H. French vacated the position of president, turning the meeting over to the new district governor, P. B. Scurrah, who installed the new officers, with J. Morse Hatt as president.

In retiring from his position, Mr. French expressed his thanks for the hearty support that had been accorded him during his term of office. Briefly reviewing the activities of the year, Mr. French pointed out that boys' work had received a great deal of attention at the hands of the club, which was a wise course. Thanks to Norman Rant, as chairman of the committee, agricultural work had also been looked after. He was of the opinion that the club might well give more attention to sports, and in this respect suggested that horseshoe pitching might be encouraged.

Mr. French referred to the trying times through which they were passing, and felt that the need of the time for governments as well as clubs and individuals was to endeavor to keep expenditures within incomes.

ACCEPTS GAVEL

Mr. Scurrah, in installing the new president, said that Mr. Hatt had adopted a somewhat different plan which he hoped would be a success. This would, he felt, cast more work upon the president, but he was sure that the energy possessed by Mr. Hatt would enable him to carry it through.

Mr. Hatt accepted the gavel for the coming year with few remarks, and in turn asked Mr. Scurrah to present Mr. French with the past president's button.

Duncan McBride and Herbert Pendray were introduced as the new vice-presidents; E. Coates as the treasurer; Alderman Alexander Peden as sergeant-at-arms, and J. McKay, Alderman Walter Luney and Samuel Armstrong as directors for the ensuing year.

On motion of Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., a vote of thanks was accorded the retiring board.

GUESTS AT MEETING

There were present at the luncheon, yesterday, by invitation, representatives of other service clubs. These included: Mrs. A. H. Spurr, for the Soroptimist Club; Mrs. M. Hall, for the Business and Professional Women's Club; S. J. D. Clack, for the Kiwanis; Dr. C. B. Mess, the Gyro; Robert Shanks, the Kinsmen, and Dudley Wickett, the Service Clubs' Council.

The annual report of the club was read by T. J. Goodlake, which showed that while thirteen new members had been received, there had been the same number who retired, leaving the membership at ninety-eight, as the year before.

Reference was made to the deaths during the year of two valued members in Major W. C. Angus and Robert R. Webb.

The selection of P. B. Scurrah for district governor was referred to as an honor to Victoria.

MINES ARE LEADING B.C. TO RECOVERY

discoveries were made during the year, adding materially to prospects for the future. The most significant gain was the broad advance in base metal prices.

With gold in the lead, mining in 1933 led all British Columbia industries in its percentage of recovery from the low point of the depression. While this was gauged and anticipated in the year's end reviews, the corrected figures confirm reports at that time and disclose gains increasing expectations. The chief outputs were as follows:

OUTPUT IN BRIEF

Gold (placer)—23,928 fine ounces, worth $406,776 at statutory value, without premium.

Gold (lode)—223,529 fine ounces, worth $4,620,754, without premium.

Silver—7,006,406 ounces, worth $2,650,720.

Copper — 42,608,002 lbs., worth $3,176,341.

Lead—271,606,071 lbs., worth $6,495,731.

Zinc—195,963,751 lbs., worth $6,291,416.

Coal—1,264,746 long tons, worth $5,375,171.

Structural materials—Value $1,024,045.

Miscellaneous minerals and metals—Value $633,532.

To this list is added exchange equalization on gold of $1,928,186 additional, making the gross value of production $32,602,672. This was an increase of 8.61 per cent at statutory values, but closer to 15 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the medium in which producers are actually paid.

GAINS IN VALUE

Gold production of nearly $7,000,000 in Canadian funds, was a gain of 107.5 per cent over 1931, and 22.6 per cent over 1932 on statutory values. Placer gold gained 17.3 per cent in value during the year. Silver, by coincidence, also gained 17.3 per cent in value, despite a decrease in output of 1.7 per cent. Lead gained 6.7 per cent in volume, and 20.7 per cent in value. Zinc gained 2 per cent in volume, and 36.1 per cent in value.

At an average yield of $28.60 per fine ounce, gold was paying producers 38.35 per cent above its statutory value of $20.67 per fine ounce.

Copper decreased in volume of 7,233,007 lbs., but was worth $3,176,341, or within $3,600 of the much larger output in 1932.

Coal is valued for statistical purposes at $4.25 per ton. Production was less by 270,229 long tons; the 1,264,746 tons mined being worth $5,375,171 on this basis, compared with $6,523,644 in 1932. Importation of fuel oil, likewise dropped by 14.3 per cent.

Structural materials declined 39.72 per cent in value; but nonmetallics and miscellaneous minerals and metals increased by $153,386 during the year, notably from cadium, bismuth and fluxing materials.

OUTLOOK EXCELLENT

The outlook for 1934, five months of which has already gone, is said to be still more encouraging, on the whole. With gold increasing in volume and still at a high premium, silver strengthening, and base metals steadily climbing out of their extreme low values, all signs point to further consolidation of the gains made in 1933.

The Department's estimate of the gross value of gold for 1934 is $11,500,000; counting $6,800,000 for actual production in statutory values, and $4,700,000 by way of enhancement through premiums.

Small further recovery in base metal prices from their present position will place British Columbia enterprises in a strong position to go ahead, in view of revolutionary betterments in metallurgical and operating practices achieved during the last four years. Base metals have been moving fractionally up in value for some months, and this trend is expected to be accelerated in the next few years.

The 25 per cent gain in average value per ton for all ores mined last year is perhaps the best yardstick to measure the real achievements of that year. Dividends of more than $3,000,000, and an 8 per cent gain in employment, also made cheerful reading in the corrected results of 1933.

Members Here — E. D. Barrow, M.P.P., and Major D. M. MacKay, M.P.P., representing Chilliwack and Cariboo, respectively, in the British Columbia Legislature, were in the city yesterday interviewing members of the Government. According to Mr. Barrow, a pooling clause has been inserted in the Federal Marketing Bill, now through its committee stages. Mr. Barrow discussed marketing of agricultural products with Hon. K. C. MacDonald, while Major MacKay called on Hon. F. M. MacPherson.

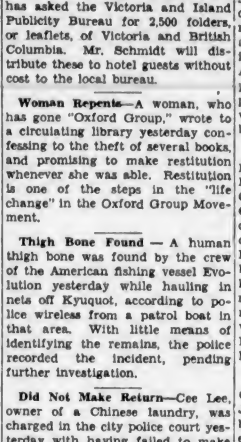

Asks for Details — In Supreme Court Chambers yesterday, Chief Justice Morrison, on a request made by H. J. Davis for the heirs of the estate left by Marie Larbonne, who died in 1892, and H. E. A. Courtney, representing the official administrator, asked that the details of the division of the remaining part of the estate be set out before he granted an order for the disposition of the remainder of the estate. There is some $2,355 left to be divided, and there are some fifteen claimants for a share in the amount.

ship Cyclone, he came to this coast via Cape Horn, arriving in Victoria in 1862. He was twenty-two years of age at that time. Shortly after his arrival here, he found employment, which induced him to forget about the gold discoveries in the Fraser Valley, but when the Leach River strike was made, he tried his luck there, but returned without much success.

It was after he had tried his luck on the Leach River that Mr. White became a partner in the firm of Brown & White, connected with the lumbering industry, and in the capacity of partner spent three years in London, buying supplies.

During this time the Fisheries and Colonies Exposition was opened by Queen Victoria, and Mr. White acted as agent for British Columbia, receiving several exhibits from Victoria.

TALENTED MUSICIAN

In his youth, Mr. White was given a fine musical education in English church choirs, and when he came to Victoria, he associated himself with musical organizations. His talent was quickly realized and appreciated, and he became much in demand both here and in Vancouver, where he sang with Mme. Martin, who later achieved operatic fame as Madame Edvina.

He also sang with Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie, and was popular as a tenor soloist in many oratorios. When the Victoria Theatre was first opened, he took the part of Frederick in "The Pirates of Penzance." It was only four or five years ago that Mr. White sang at a St. Patrick's Day concert.

The deceased was a charter member of the Vancouver Board of Trade and an honorary member of the Native Sons of British Columbia.

THOSE WHO SURVIVE

He married a niece of the late Hon. J. H. Turner. Surviving him are four sons, Cleeve, Frederick and Charles, of Victoria, and Frank, of Vancouver; and two daughters, Mrs. C. E. Tisdall, of Vancouver, and Miss White, of Victoria. Funeral arrangements will be announced later. A younger son, Allan, was killed on active service in the Great War, and was in the Royal Naval Flying Corps. Mr. White also is survived by eighteen grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick will officiate. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

BALL SQUADS PLAY TO TIE

Twilight League and U.S.S. San Francisco Battle to 8-8 Deadlock in Exhibition

Coming from behind with eight runs in the fourth and fifth innings, U.S.S. San Francisco, visiting American battleship, gained an 8-8 tie with an all-star nine from the Twilight Baseball League last night at the Royal Athletic Park in an exhibition fixture. The sailors were six runs behind when they went to bat in the fourth, but rallied to score eight runs to gain a deadlock at the finish.

Clearwater started for the sailors, but retired in the fifth frame when he was nicked for seven runs and eleven hits in place of Hopkins. Bartlett was at the receiving end and held the bluejackets in check. Scott and Woodford shared backstop duties.

Short score follows:

INDICTMENT IS CLAIMED VOID

The appeal in the case of William J. Jones, who was convicted at the Spring Assizes in this city, of an assault upon Helen Raffa, who was employed as housekeeper by the appellant, is proceeding in the Court of Appeal. Stuart Henderson, who is counsel for Jones, is still presenting his objections to the conviction. His contention before the court as to the indictment upon which the conviction was obtained was that it "was neither English nor law." When it was inserted by the trial judge that there was an assault "with consent," something was set out that could not be.

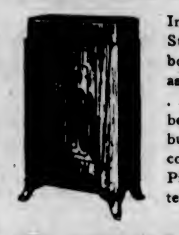

An assault could only be without consent. He held that the indictment did not, as amended, reveal the offence.

If there was loose, indefinite language in an indictment, the indictment, Mr. Henderson contended, was void.

Counsel said he was appealing on the facts and at some length quoted from evidence, yesterday afternoon.

The argument for the appellant is still in progress. The argument will take all of today, it is evident.

Dance Revue Given by Pupils of Miss Jewell

Tap Dances and Novelty Numbers Are Features of Annual Recital Held at Crystal Garden—Large Audience Applauds

Miss Mona Jewell's dance pupils appeared, last evening, in their annual revue at the Crystal Garden, and a long programme, presented with attractive staging, costuming, and showing finished work, made a great appeal to the audience. No child seems to be too young to dance, and even the tiniest showed an amazing sense of rhythm and grace, and entered into the spirit of the dances most whole-heartedly.

The first part of the programme was devoted to the work of the youngest children, some being barely past two years of age. Miss Jewell was assisted by Nancy White, Frances Borde and Beatrice Stromkins, whose advanced work was particularly delightful.

The opening number was "The Blue Danube," in which the following took part, Mona Jewell, Marjorie Turner, Nancy White, Beatrice Stromkins, Frances Borde, Nora Morrison, Sheila Grice, Margaret Welsh, Lillian Wood, Marguerite MacLeod, Joan Jarvis and Lavina White. It was a graceful and charming ballet, and their blue and silver ballet dresses were lovely.

This was followed by a tap dance by Doreen Nunn; Mexican dance by tiny Jean McGrath; tap dance, Corinne Earle; rainbow waltz, Frances Borde, Alberta White, Vera White, Valerie Curtis, Gladys Jones, all of whom are pupils of Frances Borde. Jackie Lamb appeared in Swanee River, and Gracie Griffiths, one of the smallest children, in a Japanese dance. Vicky Palmer did a tap dance and Vera, Hazel and Joan Pearson were smart toy soldiers. In a graceful swan dance, Nancy White took the part of the swan mother and Sheila Grice, the baby swan. Beverly McKeon brought a laugh with her comic dance and Beatrice Stromkins performed a spirited gypsy dance. In a Welsh number were the following pupils of Frances Borde—Bunty McKay, Gladys Jones and Valerie Curtis.

BABY BALLERINAS

In a tap dance, Lillian Wood and Kavina White, wore novel checked shorts. The final group of the first part was a dance performed by "Baby Ballerinas," led by Kathleen Stromkins, and the children were Sheila Grice, Vera Pearson, Marilyn Gray, Thelma Whyte, Jean McGrath, Gracia Griffiths, Mary Lou Allen, Winnie Brown, Corinne Earle and Sylvia Welsh.

Possibly her first appearance behind the footlights was too great an ordeal for one baby ballerina, who, completely overcome, yet altogether charming in the eyes of the audience, retired before the end of the ballet.

SOLO DANCES

The second part of the programme opened with a sailors' hornpipe, in which Jean McGrath sang the solo and the following danced: Mona Jewell, Lillian Wood, Lavina Whyte, Thelma Whyte, Margaret Welsh, Doreen Nunn, Marjorie Turner, Jackie Lamb, Cedulia Gagnon, Nora Morrison, Hazel Pearson, Dorothy Kermode, Marguerite McLeod, Pearl Thomas, Jean Jarvis, Beverley McKeon and Ruby Foyer. Sheila Grice sang and danced in "Three Little Piggies," and Nancy White impersonated the spirit of Autumn in a graceful scarf dance. The skaters' waltz was given by Frances Borde, and Mickey Mouse was charmingly impersonated by Bunty McKay, a pupil of Frances Borde. Gracia Griffiths was a perfect miniature reproduction of Mae West, even to the oft-quoted remark, and she was enthusiastically encored. Helen Whyte appeared in a tap dance; Corinne Earle and Vicky Palmer, Irish dance; Margaret Welsh and Shiela Grice in "Alice in Wonderland"; Beatrice Stromkins and Nancy White, tap dance; Marguerite Newell, a pupil of Frances Borde, waltz clog; Frances Borde, the glow worm, and Mary Lou Allen in a delightful song number.

"In the Garden" was one of the prettiest numbers of the programme, and those taking part were: Mary, Mary Quite Contrary, Margaret Welsh; butterfly, Beatrice Stromkins; poppy, Gracia Griffiths; bumble bee, Thelma Whyte; forget-me-not, Joan Jarvis; rose, Corinne Earle; frog, Dorothy Kermode.

Other numbers were as follows: Indian dance, Sheila Grice and Vickey Palmer; Scotland, Nancy White; rube dance, Doreen Nunn; dainty miss, Nora Morrison; song and dance, Margaret Welsh; clog dance, Lavina White; Russian dance, Lillian Wood; jazz toe dance, Sheila Grice; a Valentine, Frances Borde and Beatrice Stromkins; cupid, Jean McGrath; military tap, Alberta White (pupil of Frances Borde); Irish jig, Marguerite MacLeod; Winter: Snow queen, Margaret Welsh; bunnies, Katherine Stromkins and Corinne Earle; snowman, Cedulia Gagnon; tap dance, Thelma Whyte; Chinese dance, Marjorie Turner; musical comedy, Nancy White, Frances Borde and Beatrice Stromkins.

The accompanist for the evening was Winnifred Green, A.L.C.M.

Saanich Welfare Body Entertains Many Tea Guests

Some seventy-five persons were present at a silver tea held by Saanich Welfare Association in its new headquarters, Tillicum Road at Maddock Avenue, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Frank Osborn and Mrs. William Crouch poured tea.

Prior to the tea, a business session was held, at which it was announced that, during May, 123 families, representing 339 persons, had been assisted. Seventeen donations of clothing and shoes had been received, for which thanks were extended.

Clubs-Societies

Knox W.M.A.

Miss Jessie M. Sutherland presided at the fifteenth anniversary of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of Knox Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening. The meeting was opened with a missionary hymn, prayer and Scripture reading, the latter by Mrs. Ritchie. Mrs. Partington sang a solo and the Misses Peggy and Tina McPhail sang a duet, Miss Marquart at the piano. Adjutant Sharpe, of the Salvation Army, gave a short talk on "A Great Work." Miss Sutherland expressed the thanks of the auxiliary to the speaker, and a quartette, "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," was sung by members of the Salvation Army. Mrs. F. W. Laing, in a short talk, recalled the early days of the organization, and Mrs. McIntosh, who was the first vice-president, and who came to Knox Church a bride, thirty years ago, expressed her pleasure in being present at the fifteenth anniversary. A brother of Mrs. McIntosh gave the ground for the church, which was built forty-two years ago. After the singing of a hymn, Rev. J. S. Patterson closed the meeting. Members of the Home Helpers' Circle served refreshments and Mrs. William Wilson, the oldest member of the church present, had made and cut the birthday cake.

Oak Bay L.A.

The Ladies' Aid of the Oak Bay United Church held its regular meeting in the church parlor yesterday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. A. J. Gerry, in the chair. Following a short devotional period, Mrs. Charles Hudson reported on the guest tea to be held by the members on October 5, when Mr. Ira Dilworth will be speaker. Mrs. Sidney Johnson was appointed convener of the autograph quilt. A picnic will be held on Thursday, July 5, at the Summer home of Mrs. A. Tinker, at Deep Cove. Arrangements were made for the Fall bazaar, to be held in November, under the convenership of Mrs. Tinker.

Husband: "Well, dear, how do you like the place?"

Wife: "It's simply marvelous! The balcony is lovely, but the garden just leaves me speechless!"

Husband: "Then we'll certainly buy it."

Heather Day Will Be Held On August 25

Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, at their monthly meeting, yesterday, made preliminary arrangements for the sale of heather on August 25, as there will be no general meeting of the chapter before September. Members were reminded that this year the actual date of the leaving of the First Contingent, which the chapter has commemorated every year since 1914, falls on Sunday, so the City Council has given permission for the day to be commemorated on Saturday, August 25.

The heather will be prepared in Municipal Chapter headquarters on August 24 and will be supplied, as in former years, by Mr. George Fraser from his famous gardens at Ucluelet. Mrs. A. M. Boyd was appointed convener for Alexandra Rose Day, on Saturday, June 30, and members are asked to volunteer to sell the roses for at least an hour and to notify Mrs. Boyd as to the hour which will suit them best by telephoning G 1440.

CONTRIBUTION VOTED

The chapter voted a contribution to the tea fund of the Girl Guides' Association for their fete, to be held at "Gonzales," corner of St. Charles Street and Rockland Avenue, on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. T. B. Monk, soldiers' graves convener, reported having decorated the War Memorial and the Cross of Sacrifice on Empire Day, and will decorate the Cross of Sacrifice during July for the chapter.

A letter of sympathy will be sent to Mrs. R. Jones, a valued member of the chapter, in her serious illness.

The treasurer, Mrs. James Shaw, brought in a very satisfactory report of the returns from the bridge tea, and thanks were expressed to all who contributed to the success of the affair.

The chapter voted the usual monthly contributions to the Girl Guides' Association, the Sea Cadets Bugle Band, Red Cross Workshop and for the upkeep of soldiers' graves.

SUMMARY READ

The provincial summary was read with much interest in the report of the excellent standing taken by the I.O.D.E. bursary holders, which is a truly worthy record.

The delegate to the provincial annual meeting, held in Victoria, gave the report of the meeting. The several resolutions that were passed were very satisfactory, the members considered.

Miss J. Crease, first vice-regent, gave an interesting talk on the exhibition of water-color paintings that are on loan from the Royal Scottish Society, and can be seen at the Windermere Hotel, corner of Courtney and Douglas Streets, all next week, members being advised to go and to take their friends, the pictures being particularly fine.

Weddings

BRUNT—BLINN

NANAIMO, June 7.—The marriage was solemnized by Rev. J. H. Wright in the Haliburton United Church, of Miss Elsie Blinn and Mr. Harry Brunt. The church was decorated with cut flowers by friends of the contracting couple. Miss Mary Blinn was bridesmaid and Mr. Clement Brunt, best man. Mr. and Mrs. Brunt left for the United States, and on their return will reside on the Five Acre Lots, Nanaimo.

TODD—GURTON

At a quiet ceremony in St. Mary's Church, Kamloops, on June 1, at high noon, Rev. M. R. Bush officiated at the marriage of Viola Olive, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Gurton, of Centre Road, Sidney, and Mr. William Todd, elder son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Todd, of Vancouver. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Thomas Gurton, looked charming in a dress of delphinium blue crinkle crepe with cowl neckline and full sleeves, which were trimmed with pleated white organdie. A wide, white felt hat, white gloves and blue shoes completed the pretty ensemble. The bride and groom were unattended. Following the ceremony, the wedding party had luncheon at the Central Hotel, the bride and groom leaving later in the afternoon for Bestwick, where they will make their home. The couple were the recipients of many lovely and useful gifts. Mrs. Todd was a former resident of Victoria and has many friends here.

MILLIGAN—COOK

NANAIMO, June 7.—Before a crowd that filled the church to overflowing, two well-known members of the younger set were united in marriage in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church by the Rev. Dr. Douglas, of Vancouver. The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of pastel-shaded sweet peas and other Summer blooms, which also banked the windows and pulpit of the church.

The bride, Miss Agnes Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Corrigon Milligan, son of Mr. James Milligan and the late Mrs. Milligan, of Nanaimo.

To the strains of the "Bridal Chorus," played by Mr. Dave Arnett, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, gowned in white point d'esprit with a ruffled cape fastened with orange blossome. She wore the traditional bridal veil and carried Ophelia roses and fern.

Sisters of the bride, the Misses Margaret and Jean Alexander, dressed in blue and green point d'esprit over satin, and Mr. William Milligan were attendants. Doreen Milligan was flower girl.

During the signing of the register, Mr. H. Bate sang "Because." A reception followed the ceremony in the church hall, after which Mr. and Mrs. Milligan left for California. They will reside in Chemainus.

Dance Aids Team Enter B.C. Finals

A dance fantasia was held last night in the Shrine Hall, in aid of the Junior Softball League, to help send the Victoria winning team to Vancouver next month to compete in the British Columbia finals. Mr. H. B. Wiffen, president of the club, with Mrs. Wiffen and Mr. L. Clarke, were in charge of the arrangements.

A seven-piece orchestra supplied the music and the main contest for the evening was for the Vancouver Island waltz championship, for which a challenge cup, donated by the Poodle Dog Cafe, was awarded to the winners for one year. The couple who won the waltz championship was also presented with individual cups. The spot dance was won by Miss M. Hoding and Mr. J. Galloway, for which they received $10. A $10 prize was also given to the winners of the novelty dance. During the evening, S. Huey gave a novelty dance entitled, "Mate Call."

One of the little yarns going the rounds right now has to do with the vacillating influence which dominates repeal whiskey. During the recent Winter the mercury tumbled so low that they had to put alcohol in blended whiskey to keep it from freezing.

Too Late She Sent It In
We phoned this party fully five weeks ago and reminded her that she should send her fur coat to us for storage. She said that she could not afford to send it this year. A few days ago she brought it to us, badly moth-eaten. We had to charge $25.00 to repair the moth-eaten parts. If she had sent it to us when we asked for it, it would not have been damaged.
Watch out it does not happen to your fur coat.

A delightful informal dance was held by the Victoria District Junior Conservative Association, last night, in the clubrooms, Campbell Building, in an effort to get the members acquainted. This is the second dance held by this young club, which has been organized during the past two months.

Mr. H. Bapty, the president, with Mr. T. Wood, Miss Ruth Parr, Miss Millie Thomas and Miss Patricia Petherbridge, formed the committee in charge of arrangements. A three-piece orchestra supplied the music, and refreshments were served later. The proceeds will go towards the club funds.

Malahat Chapter

The Malahat Chapter held its regular meeting on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. F. T. Skrimshire, with ten members present. The secretarial duties were performed by Mrs. Skrimshire in the absence of Mrs. More, whose indisposition was regretted. The business of the meeting included the arrangement of the details of the garden party, with novelties, to be held on August 9. The regent, Mrs. V. H. Stewart-Macleod, has kindly loaned her charming garden for this occasion. Rose Day, to supplement child welfare funds, was fixed for July 7. Mrs. Skrimshire, educational secretary, showed the members some war memorial pictures obtained at the recent convention, also a framed picture of the Royal Family, which the chapter has decided to donate to the new Guide Hall. Mrs. M. Kinloch, on behalf of the Guides and Guide associations, thanked the meeting for the gift. An invitation was extended to the chapter by Mrs. F. Price to an I.O.D.E. garden party in Duncan on Wednesday afternoon. Several members will attend. Tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. Skrimshire, assisted by her daughter, Miss Cecilia Skrimshire.

Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter

The regular meeting of the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter will be held on Saturday, June 16, at the home of Mrs. Fred Spencer, 685 Beach Drive, at 2:15 p.m. A full attendance of members is hoped for.

Cowichan Chapter

The monthly meeting of Cowichan Chapter was held at the home of Mrs. F. R. Gooding, Duncan, on Wednesday, Mrs. F. W. Galloway in the chair. One new member, Mrs. C. Deykin, was welcomed, and one guest, Mrs. R. O. Tait, was present. Plans for holding the Alexandra Rose Day tag were made. Mrs. W. R. Russell, assisted by Mrs. C. R. Downman, will arrange the taggers. Final arrangements for today's garden party were discussed. Mrs. H. P. Swan gave an interesting account of the work being done by Vancouver chapters of the order, and told of being entertained during a recent visit to Vancouver. A letter of thanks from the city of Duncan was read, expressing the appreciation of the council for the way in which Cowichan Chapter takes care of the War Memorial. A letter of thanks was also read from the mother of the chapter's adopted family in the Peace River. The book, "Forever England," was selected as the chapter's prize for high school students.

Porter Chapter

The monthly meeting of Porter Chapter was held at the home of Mrs. Russell Robinson on Tuesday afternoon, the regent, Mrs. W. W. Southin, in the chair. Reports of provincial and executive meetings were read. A donation was made to isolated schools and to work in India, in accordance with executive requests. There will be no meetings in July and August, but Alexandra Rose Day will be held on Friday next, the proceeds from which will be used for child welfare work and will take the form of a working memorial to a former charter member. Mrs. L. Hill is in charge of the tagging, which will not this year be from house to house as formerly, as it is hoped to cover most of the area by school, business places and Albert Street tagging. Tea was served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

"Papa, what was the Stone Age?"
"That was the glorious period, my son, when a man axed a woman to marry him."

An enjoyable evening was spent recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Gurney, 3020 Quadra Street, when the members of the W.B.A. Qu-Alex Girls' Club entertained their friends at a bridge and court whist party. Eleven tables were in play, six of bridge and five of whist. The prizes for the cards were awarded to the following: Bridge, first, Miss Evelyn Stephens and Miss Minnie Roff; consolation, Mrs. Elliott and Mr. Louis H. Schmelz; whist, first, Miss Lillian Laird and Mrs. Entwhistle; consolation, Mesdames Brown and C. Yeamans. A mystery box, donated by Marjorie Fremantle, was won by Mrs. A. Taylor.

At the conclusion of the card games refreshments were served by the girls, assisted by Mrs. L. Schmelz, Mrs. M. Laird, Mrs. S. Gurney and Miss Annie Reid. An impromptu dance by some of the young people brought the delightful evening to a close. A very hearty vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Gurney for her kindness in lending her home to the club.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. L. Schmelz, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Gurney, Mr. and Mrs. John Lucerell (Seattle), Mesdames D. W. Burnett, McNeil, C. Yeomans, Savident, Upward, Entwhistle, N. Schmelz, Jr., and H. Herburger.

DANCE AT BELMONT

An instantaneous success was scored on Wednesday night, by Victoria's clever little male impersonator, Barbara Groves, when she delighted the crowd at the Belmont Cabaret's mid-week dance. She chose for her first number "I Raised My Hat," and followed later with an impression of Cicely Courtneidge singing "There's Something About a Soldier." Miss Groves will appear again on Saturday, for which dance many reservations have already been made. Tables were reserved by Mr. Walker for eight, Mr. John Waugh for five, Mr. McGill for six, and the Jolly Elevators' Club for twenty-four. Among the dancers were Miss Marjorie Waugh (Montreal), Miss Dorothy Kennedy, Mrs. Homer Dixon, Mr. Dick George, Mr. John Beck, Miss Gertrude Browning, Mr. Art Luney, Miss Beryl Lindsay Dickson, Mr. Bob Taylor, Miss Frances Farquhar, Mr. Len Arnall, Miss Mildred Baxendall, Mr. Ronald Braley, Miss Ellen Varney, Mr. Ken Waterman, Miss Kay Waterman, Mr. Will Lyle, Miss Myrtle Lyle, Mr. Frank Leasey, Miss Pat Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Steele (Los Angeles), Mrs. Arthur Little (Trail), Mrs. Brocklebank, Mrs. W. C.G.I.T. Camp Opens Shortly

The Victoria Leaders' Council held its final meeting of the season on Tuesday at the Y.W.C.A. Miss Gladys Beall, the president, opened the meeting with an impressive worship service.

Plans for the C.G.I.T. camps to be held at Maple Lawn, Sooke, were discussed. There will be an intermediate camp from July 4 to 12 and a senior camp from July 12 to 21. The registrar, Mrs. Maude Hammond, will receive applications at the Y.W.C.A. Registrations for the intermediate camp must be made by June 30, and for senior camp by July 7. Miss Minnie Beveridge gave a report of the C.G.I.T. camp directors' conference held in New Westminster.

It was decided that another week-end retreat of girls' work leaders would be held early in September. The committee to make full arrangements consists of Misses Minnie Beveridge, Lillian Parfitt and Olive Lynn. Miss Rita Sargent rendered a beautiful solo. Refreshments and a sing-song brought the meeting to a close.

RESTLESS WOMEN

BY JANE DIXON

CHAPTER XVIII

"I understand there's some trouble about your being in my production," Martin Segal said to Sandra when she came into his office and had been tendered a chair close to the throne. She had heard the boss described as everything from an ogre to a plumed knight.

"Trouble?" Sandra repeated.

"Don't be alarmed. I refer, of course, to your mother's objections."

Sandra sighed relief. The thought that perhaps her work in the chorus had displeased the maestro had been disquieting.

"Oh," she said. "I know that mother is against my being connected with the theatre in any way. You see, mother has been sort of planning a marriage for me. She has the mid-Victorian attitude toward work for women, and toward the theatre."

"Um." Combination of red hair and grey eyes was good. Come to think of it, he had noticed this girl in the line. Had meant to inquire who she was. "How do you feel about it, Miss Reynal?" he asked in his suavest society voice. "Work, I mean, and the theatre?"

"I like it a lot," Sandra replied, "as far as I've gone. I want to remain."

Segal knitted carefully-plucked eyebrows. "Perhaps it can be arranged," he said unctiously. "Are you of age?"

"Just."

"Then I can't see any objection to your staying. Youth must be served." That was good. He must remember that one. Things came to him sometimes.

"Thank you, Mr. Segal." Sandra rose. "I shall try very hard, so I may repay you for the trouble I've caused."

The boss rose too. "I'll have Mrs. Segal look you up to find how you're making out." He saw Sandra to the door. Behind him there was an exchange of looks between the personal secretary and the general utility stenographer. The caller was a lady of importance.

"Miss Mason," Segal directed the personal secretary when the door had closed on Sandra, "if a Mrs. Reynal calls, in person or by phone, I'm not in. I've gone away. You don't know when I'll be back."

"So this old dame thought her daughter was too good to be glorified by Segal? Fat chance she'd have gabbing to him. The girl was a rare one. Wished he could find a dozen more like her. They certainly had something over there on the other side of the Avenue you didn't put on with a brush. The sooner he settled his own kids on that side the better.

Sandra had asked Stephen Hale to wait for her at the 12th Street apartment. They were to have dinner early so she could get to the theatre.

Steve was in the vestibule when Sandra arrived. "I warn you not to lose yourself in these spacious rooms," she said, opening the door of her apartment. Her laugh belied apology for cramped quarters. She was inordinately proud of her tiny home. It had given her the first sense of proprietory pride she had ever experienced. As she helped Steve with his coat, she noticed his arm was bandaged. "I'm so sorry about your—wing. Is it serious?"

"Good old stage tree. If it hadn't fallen on my arm, I wouldn't be here. I should chip a piece off that prop and hang it around my neck, or stick it in the family album." He laughed. "Nifty nest, this."

"I love it. Want to see my kitchen?" Sandra motioned toward a screen. Steve peered around the corner.

"Does it work?"

"Rather. Come on over sometime after I've practiced up a bit and I'll show you what it can do."

"I'm pretty handy myself among the pots and pans. Maybe I can give you a lift." Steve stood back, surveyed her. "Any bad effects from the tree?"

"No. Just a small bump." Her eyes tried to escape the ardor in his.

"Show me." Obediently she lowered her head, guiding his hand to the tender spot behind her left ear. He ran his fingers through the spun copper. Delicious little tingles coursed through her. He said: "Lucky it was a glancing blow, or Marty Segal would have to find a man was an earner, like herself!

"Any nook, Steve, where we can eat a little and talk a lot. I'd like some place I've never been—I'm in the mood." She was in the mood. She wanted to sit and chat with this young man who had crept so easily into her affections.

They dined at an Italian place in a lower West Side street. The proprietor and chef was an artist.

Stephen Hale came from a small Mid-West town. His forebears had settled on the banks of the Scioto River when wagon trails, belly-deep to the horses in Winter, were the only means of egress from their virgin wilderness. Halesville, Ohio, was a monument to the site of the pioneer Hale's homestead.

On the day Steve received his diploma from the Halesville High School, his uncle—Big Jud—told him that he had "fixed it for you to enter college in the Fall." Steve could scarcely believe his ears. College! It was what he wanted more than anything else.

Stephen Hale's record as a student at Kenyon College was not a brilliant one, but he could write and he did write when he should have been boning for examinations.

He graduated in the middle of his class. Every one on the campus and in the town knew "Steve," regretted his college days were over.

Steve went to New York and looked up a college friend who had a job on a morning paper. The friend found a berth for Steve. It was Summer and the paper needed a leg man for the suburbs and the beaches. The work left Steve little time for writing, but it enabled him to inform Big Jud that he had a job on the Metropolitan Press "and don't you send me another nickel until I pay back some of the millions of them I owe you."

There was a considerable interval of low tide during Steve's first year in New York—witness a sheaf of rejection slips on the desk in his cubbyhole of a room in West 23rd Street.

One night, while covering a show uptown, he met a literary agent who had graduated into the big time from Kenyon College. Steve outlined an idea he had for a satire on the modern college campus. The agent, warning him that it would have to be good because "everybody seems to have something to say about dear old alma mater," told him to do it and send it along. Steve wrote, rewrote, polished and repolished until his eyes were two balls of fire and his brain was a lump of molten lead. The result was called "Campus Crazy."

Nothing happened for three months. Then came a letter from the literary agent. A scout for Marty Segal had read "Campus Crazy" and thought it might have possibilities.

"Don't expect a big price in case Segal is definitely interested," the agent wrote. "Remember you're a beginner. I have an appointment with Segal's man later this week, and if anything breaks I'll get in touch with you."

"Campus Crazy" apparently had more than possibilities. It had positive value. There followed another interval for Steve of turning his eyes into balls of fire, his brain into a lump of lead. Revise—add this—drop that—put punch into it—build up this character—cut this one down—turn it over to the play doctor to whip into shape. Steve groaned. "It's been 'whipped now until it's pulpy."

And then came another letter; Segal had phoned the agent and would pay $1,000. The world tottered before Steve's eyes as he read the figures. He sent a wire to Big Jud. "Just sold skit to Segal, biggest Broadway producer. Check follows."

After the agent's ten per cent was deducted, Stephen divided the balance in two parts. Half of it he sent to Big Jud, the remaining half with his grub stake. He gave up his job with the newspaper to devote his time exclusively to the business of writing. One short story out of three landed, and on the strength of his reputation built by "Campus Crazy" he got $750 for it. Half of this, too, went to Big Jud. Steve was the possessor of a neat little account in the Halesville Bank. This he did not know. Big Jud had deposited it in Steve's name.

The boy had more than repaid the investment Big Jud had made in him, according to the older man's reckoning. If the boy ever needed money, it would be waiting for him.

Meanwhile, Steve was living with an eye to stretching his grub stake out over a considerable period. He was working far into the night on another skit that might be expanded into a play if it developed as he believed it should.

It was at this time Stephen met Sandra Reynal in the theatre, and realized she had been a constantly recurring visitor in his thoughts since the encounter on the beach at Sandharbor.

The evening after she had dined with him at the little Italian restaurant Sandra found Steve as she was leaving 12th Street for the theatre. He was about to ring her bell.

"Thought you might like a walk," he said, possessing himself of her arm. "There's plenty of time and this air makes you want to leap over buildings. I've been in all day trying to do some one-armed carpentering on a plot. I need to be revived. We can walk until you run up a stop signal."

They swung up Fifth Avenue at a lively pace. Sandra stretched her legs to keep up with Steve's long strides. Life was aglow. Had she ever really gone dangling through it at the end of Corinne's futile rope? Sandharbor was a place in another world. Sutton Place a part of that world. She wondered if Corinne and Val—but no, why should she——

Steve interrupted her mental questioning. "Being a budding analyst of human reactions, I would say you have dire things to think about."

"No—not really dire. Not a dire thought to be dour about—now. First time in my life I can wake up in the morning without wondering what the next family arg——" Halt. She mustn't spill secrets——" anyway, without wondering how to slay Father Time and have a lot of fun doing it. I'm happy, so what matter? And you?"

"Hilarious—or I will be if the play I'm tinkering on is a success. After all, why shouldn't we both be happy? We've got the breaks—youth—add beauty to yours—ambition, and since modesty is not one of my sins, I'll admit intelligence for us. What else do we need?"

"Righto. Why worry when we have all these riches." She pressed his arm. "You'll have to admit though, it would be sort of comforting to have lots of money, a real honest to goodness home and some one, or something to love you. A dog would do."

Steve chuckled. She had not heard Steve chuckle for days. "Check," he said. "Here's a bargain. You furnish the money and the home, and I'll furnish the dog."

Sandra withdrew her arm. "Of all the nice things you could have said, why did you say that? And such an opportunity to—to—do a little one-armed carpentering."

Steve took her hand, drew her to him. "Don't mind me, Sandy. I'm the world's best bungler. I never can say the right thing until I cross out, interline, erase and revamp a thousand times. What I really had in mind—by way of a little pirating—was, well, you know those furniture ads on street benches——"

"I know," Sandra interrupted. "But I still insist you should learn to say the right thing without erasing, crossing out, and all that."

Fredericka Fordyce, the Queen of Diamonds in "Princess Pep" who started life as Margaret Murphy, was coming into the stage door as Sandra lingered there with Steve. "Who's the John, dearie?" the Queen asked when they were in the elevator bound for their dressing-rooms. "Easy on the eyes, I'd say."

SWEDISH PIGS TO BE TESTED

Seventy-Five Boars Being Brought to Canada for Experimental Purposes

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP).—The pedigreed pigs from Sweden which are causing the stir in the British House of Commons are living comfortably in the quarantine station, of Levis, Que. The shipment consists of seventy-five boars of the Landrasce breed, and the infusion of the blood of this superior race of pigs is expected to add class to the Canadian production.

The animals will be kept in quarantine for six months, after which they will be brought to the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, where they will be kept for some months until the reaction of the change in climate and the alteration in food can have been observed and tests made in regard to the first litters.

If these tests are satisfactory, the pigs will be distributed to individual farmers throughout the Dominion. Each of these pigs has a pedigree running back twenty generations or over—quite a forest of family trees.

The ancestors of each pig for twenty generations have passed the station tests in Sweden, the hall-mark of quality. This is the breed of pigs with which the Danes have led the world in the production of bacon. The Swede imported them from Denmark and have developed the pedigreed stock.

The Department of Agriculture, referring today to the objection that pigs were not brought from Britain explained that this class of swine was not available in Great Britain and it had been decided that this particular breed was necessary to mix with the Canadian breeds.

MARINE, RAIL and AIR

REPORT IS PRESENTED

Plans for Reconstructive Assistance to China Outlined by Dr. Rajchman

Dr. Ludwik Rajchman, technical adviser from the League of Nations to China, who passed through Victoria on his way to Geneva a short time ago, has delivered his report. It was stated in Japanese papers, following the statement issued by the Japanese Foreign Office, on May 1, that Dr. Rajchman's activities at Nanking were partly responsible for the "Hands off Asia" pronouncement.

The report consists of eleven chapters taking up fifty-one closely-printed pages. The contents of the report are: Chapter 1, history of the National Economic Council; chapter 2, agriculture; chapter 3, cotton; chapter 4, silk; chapter 5, water conservancy; chapter 6, roads; chapter 7, health; chapter 8, education; chapter 9, recapitulation of chapters 2 and 8; and chapter 10, reconstruction activities.

The following are the National Economic Council's budget figures revealed in the report: 6,800,000 yuan for road construction; 500,000 yuan for health purposes; 1,000,000 yuan for cotton growing; 750,000 yuan for silk industry; 900,000 yuan and 2,500,000 yuan respectively for the industrial development of Kiangsi and the Northwestern provinces; 100,000 yuan for geological surveys for oil and coal mines, 200,000 yuan for subsidizing the tea-growing experimental stations; 750,000 yuan for the salaries of the administration and technical experts; 43,000 yuan for the reserve fund.

In concluding, the report states: "As regards the experts commissioned by the technical organization of the League of Nations, their missions should be conceived essentially as consultations in relation to clearly-defined problems or groups of problems. The consultations should be preceded by requisite technical surveys and studies in China, which can best be effected by the Chinese technical and administrative authorities and various institutions and individual specialists. The consultations should, as a rule, be related with the contemplated action, and the consultants should be limited to prominent specialists of international authority.

"This kind of collaboration should continue to be based on the arrangements concluded in 1931, which lasted until 1933, and it will be well carried out only with the elasticity permitted by the constitution of the league technical organization and required by the ever-changing economic and political order of the present day. The collaboration will also aim at associating the technical services of the Chinese Government with those engaged in similar endeavors in other countries, and by so doing it will contribute to strengthening the foundation and function of the national machinery for the economic development of the Chinese Republic."

JUNGLE MONKEYS OUT MALAYA WAY BOTHER RADIO FANS' AERIALS

The little jungle monkey is "Public Enemy No. 1" of the radio fan in far-off Malaya, according to John R. Kracht, Dollar Line agent at Singapore.

Kracht says the monkeys use his aerial for a flying trapeze and that he had three different antennae demolished before he got one strong enough to withstand the strain of their circus cavorting.

"They come in gangs from the jungle like mischievous boys," Kracht said, "and they have a great time running over my aerial like tight-rope walkers. Their jibbering and performing gives us more than our share of static."

PLANS READY FOR SERVICE

Coast-to-Coast Air Mail When Economic Conditions Are Right

CALGARY, June 7 (CP). — A coast-to-coast air mail service in nineteen hours, traveling in airplanes capable of flying the sky lanes from Montreal to Vancouver at a speed of more than 200 miles an hour, is the hope of Canadian airmen.

Squadron Leader A. T. Crowley, superintendent of air regulations, Ottawa, who is in Calgary today on an inspection tour, outlined plans for the fast mail service of the future—to be put in operation when economic conditions are better.

NO IDEAL DREAM

A nineteen-hour cross-continental service is no ideal dream, Squadron Leader Crowley declared. All plans have been made, the fields are available and the planes to undertake the speedy flights could be constructed in Canada, many hope, he said.

Officers of the Department of Civil Aviation and the Royal Canadian Air Force, operating in conjunction with postal authorities, have all plans ready for operation.

PROPOSED ROUTE

The proposed route would take a Western aerial trail via Regina, Lethbridge and the Crow's Nest Pass to Vancouver, making a direct mountain crossing to the Coast. A branch service would be maintained from Calgary to Lethbridge.

In the East, from Montreal, the fast-flying mail carriers would sweep over Northern Ontario, collecting mail from branch lines at designated points. No passengers would be carried.

FISHERMAN DIES AS RESULT OF STORM IN NEWFOUNDLAND

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 7 (CP). —Lightning singled out Alexander Button for death today, while other fishermen beside him in a boat, returning from traps, were untouched.

The twenty-four-year-old resident of Lead Cove was struck down during a terrific electric storm that cracked over the Trinity Bay district.

Yukon and Atlin Mails

VIA VANCOUVER — Mails close 1:30 p.m., May 31, June 8, 16, 18, 23, 25 and 30, and July 3, 7 and 9.

Dispatches of June 18 and 25, and July 2 and 9 letter mail only. Seattle sailings postponed indefinitely.

Canadians on New England Schooners

WHEN the Gertrude L. Thebaud docked in New York on a trip to encourage the sale of fish, her skipper, Captain Jimmy Abbott, revealed that his boat, from Gloucester, Mass., had an all-British crew of sailors from Nova Scotia and Newfoundland. He lamented the fact that sailors are disappearing from the shores of New England and are being replaced by these "foreign" crews. The Thebaud is the boat that has several times challenged Nova Scotia's famous Bluenose to race for the fishing schooner championship of the North Atlantic. Only once has she ever been able to beat the Bluenose, and that was in an exhibition race. The layout shows (left) the Bluenose, the Gertrude L. Thebaud (right), and (centre) Captain Abbott. He says sailing vessels are the only means yet of successfully fishing Atlantic waters.

FLYERS KILLED WHEN AIRPLANES COLLIDE

BERLIN, June 7 (CP via Havas). —Four aviators were killed at Sagan, Silesia, today, when two sport airplanes collided in mid-air.

Modavia Will Be Here With Cargo During Afternoon

Inbound from the United Kingdom by way of Panama and California ports, the Donaldson freighter Modavia is due alongside Rithet Piers some time this afternoon, according to A. E. Shanks, of Rithet Consolidated, local agents for the ship. The Modavia has cargo for the port, and completing here, will continue to Mainland ports.

Completing loading lumber at Ogden Point assembly plant, the freighters Umberleigh and Nordfarer, which have been here for several days, got away early yesterday morning, both bound for the United Kingdom. The Umberleigh left at 2:45 o'clock and the Nordfarer at 6 o'clock.

Replacing the Iroquois on the Seattle-Port Angeles-Victoria run of the Black Ball Ferries, the Ss. Olympic came in yesterday afternoon, several hours late. The Iroquois was delayed at Port Angeles, and the Olympic took her passengers and mails aboard there. The Iroquois will be back on the run today.

B.C. Aviation Notes

Three new pupils registered for flying instruction with Wells School of Aeronautics, Vancouver, during the past week, two of them being members of the Private Aircraft Club. Both Jack Barbour and Granville Gatrell have home-built planes about ready to take the air, and are receiving flying instruction from Jack Wright. R. Dennis is the third new student of the school. Flying time in student work continues to hold up well, five hours and three-quarters being chalked up last Sunday.

Jimmy Davies, Vancouver, finally took the bull by the horns, got sufficiently brave to venture forth seaplaining all by his lonesome. He has soloed on land machines, of course, but has been taking dual on Wells School's Moth seaplane during the past few weeks. For some time he has been ready, but hesitant to push off solo with the pontoons under him. Finally he took a deep breath, last week-end, and said "Here goes!" Everything went merrily. But he was sure something had to happen. To satisfy Jimmy, a true friend was on hand—Jack Jones obligingly fell into the Fraser River, fully clothed, much to his own discomfort, but bringing perfect peace of mind to the new airplane soloist.

Special Summer courses are being prepared by Vancouver Aero Tech, school of practical aviation. Ambitious young men will be given the opportunity of making good use of Summer months by studying the mechanics of aviation, yet schedules will be so arranged that students will be able to enjoy the mornings only on five days of each week for the major mechanics' course. This will leave afternoons and week-ends free for outdoor recreation. Evening classes for mechanics will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays, while the technical course for pilots will be held only one evening per week only, on Wednesdays.

Vancouver Flying Club springs a new one. A "Night Reconnaissance" will be staged on June 29. Members of the club will hear details of a mysterious moonlight cruise aboard "aircraft-carrier" Steamship Princess Louise, leaving C.P.R. Pier D, Vancouver, at 8 o'clock.

Korean Villages Are Anxious for Return of Boats

SEOUL, Korea, June 7 (AP).—Much anxiety was felt today in the fishing villages on the eastern coast of Korea as to the welfare of 167 fishing boats, carrying crews totaling 900 men, following the severe storm off Kogendo Province, June 6.

Nothing thus far has been heard of the fishing boats, although at their home ports it was said the majority of them probably would come back safely.

Large Number of Entries Expected For Big Regatta

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 7.—With the selection of Judge Ekwall, of Portland, as admiral of the 1934 Mid-Columbia regatta, to be held at Vancouver, Wash., on July 4, plans for the big water event were put into high gear this week. Admiral Ekwall will be assisted by a staff of several hundred prominent Washington and Oregon citizens.

Attracted by cash prizes of $700, a record entry list of racing drivers is expected for this year's regatta. In addition to hydroplane and racing runabout motor-boat races, there will be sailing races and a score of special events.

The pre-regatta festivities will start on the evening of July 3, with the crowning of the queen and the coronation ball, "Barbary Coast Idea," will be presented both July 3 and 4.

BOATS RACING FOR LANE CUP

Motorboats Going to Cowichan—Sailing Craft to Sidney Spit

Racing fixtures of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club for tomorrow afternoon will be confined to racing for the Lane Cup and the third race in the series for the Burchell Cup. These events are for motorboats only, the sailing enthusiasts of the club taking the day off as far as racing is concerned.

The motorboats will race from Cadboro Bay to Cowichan Bay, the boat timing its passage to arrive at the latter point nearest to 7 o'clock, Saturday evening, being the winner of the Lane Cup and the third heat of the Burchell Cup series.

A week-end cruise is expected to prove popular among the skippers of yawls, sloops, stars, dinghies and cats. The destination will probably be Sidney Spit, where the season is open for gooey-duck hunting and crab catching, while the crews of boats without cabin accommodation will be granted the privilege of sleeping on the beach.

The sail boats will leave the anchorage at Cadboro Bay at 3 o'clock, the Vagrant acting as the escort boat.

FLOWER SHOW MUCH ENJOYED

Duncan Horticultural Branch Has Non-Competitive Exhibition

DUNCAN, June 7.—Under the auspices of the horticultural branch of the Cowichan Agricultural Society, a delightful non-competitive flower show was held yesterday afternoon. Those attending were fortunate in hearing short informal talks by Professor E. M. Straight, of Victoria, and E. W. Forward, of Ladysmith.

Professor Straight said if he were preaching a sermon he would take for his text, "Man cannot live by bread alone." He spoke of the need for beauty in people's lives, and quoted the philosopher of old who said that, if he had two loaves, he would sell one and buy white hyacinths to feed the soul. Professor Straight expressed his surprise at the size and beauty of yesterday's display, which for quality he had not seen equaled on the Island this year.

E. W. Forward, of Ladysmith, the well-known rose grower, gave a most helpful address on rose culture. He touched on location, feeding, pruning, spraying, selection of varieties for foliage and continuance of blooms, and said that during the past year there had never been a month in which he had not had roses in bloom. The speakers were introduced by R. M. Palmer, vice-president of the Horticultural Society. Colonel Sheridan Rice, president of the society, was largely responsible for the success of the show.

Among the exhibitors were Colonel and Mrs. Rice, R. M. Palmer, E. M. Forward, Mrs. G. H. Townend, P. B. Carberry, W. H. Truesdale, Crossland Bros.; G. H. Hadwen, Mrs. W. M. Maclachlan, C. Wallich, T. H. Pritchard, N. T. Porter, Mrs. Hugh Savage, S. K. Matterson, Mrs. C. H. Hopkins, Mrs. Grant Colborne, Mrs. H. Hogan, J. A. McKinnell, A. W. Johnson; Mr. Jamieson, of Victoria; Mrs. E. P. Jaynes, Mrs. James Flett, Mrs. M. M. White, Miss Mary Wynne, A. Creighton, Miss Thelma West and Sheila Aldersmith. There was also a very interesting display from the Alpine gardens of Buchanan Simpson from Marble Bay, Lake Cowichan.

LUMBER MILL TO CLOSE IN JULY

Officials of Mayo Company Claim Cannot Operate Profitably Under New Wage Act

DUNCAN, June 7 (CP).—Officials of the Mayo Lumber Mill have announced that the mill will close down indefinitely in July, after orders now on hand have been filled, claiming that it is not profitable to operate under the new British Columbia Minimum Wage Act.

A week ago the Hillcrest Lumber Company shut down their plant on the same grounds.

"We have no evidence that the mills have made a real effort to conform to the act," wired Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, in answer to a query stating that the district was expecting some announcement from the Government regarding its financial investigation of the Hillcrest Mill.

Informed of Mr. Pearson's wire, a Hillcrest official said: "The mill is not operating, the men are out of work, and both the domestic and export lumber markets are falling. We ran for a month under the minimum wage order, but found that we were losing money, so we shut down."

LADYSMITH HAS SCHOOL PICNIC

Hundreds Attend Most Successful Event of Kind in Years

LADYSMITH, June 7.—Under ideal weather conditions, the joint picnic of the public and high schools, was held on Shell Beach, last Monday. All day long the bays and beaches presented a colorful picture, with a host of canoes, boats and motor launches carrying people to and from the scene of the picnic.

Around 800, including the school children, attended the affair, which has proved the most successful picnic in the many years since the Canadian Collieries' annual events were wont to attract thousands to the popular beach.

Over eighty sports items were run off on land and water. Pete Tassin, the thirteen-year-old local athlete, made an excellent mark in the pole vaulting, clearing the bar at 8 feet 5 inches.

In the senior girls' events, Helen McBride won the cup for high points, while three boys, R. Halberg, A. Battie and J. Battie divided honors for the senior boys' cup. Edith Deeble gained the cup in the junior girls' section, while in the junior boys' section, Walter Dow was the winner. An unfortunate incident marred the day's pleasure, when Ronnie Oman, sixteen years, slipped during the pole vault and fractured his wrist badly. First aid was rendered and he was rushed by launch over to the General Hospital. Mayor W. W. Walkem presented the various cups, and at a later interlude in the evening, he presented a metronome, the gift of her fellow pupils, to Martha Ferguson, of the high school, who gained considerable distinction in the recent musical festivals in the piano classes at Nanaimo, Victoria and Vancouver.

Following are results of the public school sports:

WORKING HOURS ARE REARRANGED

School Board Co-operates With Mill Company at Chemainus—Children Will Benefit

CHEMAINUS, June 7.—The Victoria Lumber & Manufacturing Company, on request of a committee from its employees, put into operation a new schedule of working hours, commencing June 1. The hours now are: 7 a.m. to 11:30, and 12:30 to 5:00 p.m., during the first four days of the week, and from 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Fridays, with 7:00 a.m. to 11:30 on Saturdays.

This schedule gives the regulation forty-eight hours, with Saturday afternoon off, which will be effective till October 1, and will not only give a long week-end, but will enable baseball fans to take in the Victoria games on Saturday afternoons.

Co-operating with this arrangement, the School Board took a vote of the parents, and, beginning June 4, the school hours have been changed to 8:30 to 11:30 and 12:30 to 2:30 for the public schools, and 3:00 p.m. for high school. The hot weather of the past week, with swimming in full swing, has made these school hours very popular with the children.

Make Plans for Annual Picnic

CHEMAINUS, June 7. — The monthly meeting of the Teachers' Association of St. Michael's and All Angels' Sunday school was held on Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. J. Russell Robinson. Following the treasurer's report, an interesting letter was read from Deaconess Robinson in acknowledgment of a Sunday school donation to her work.

After discussion, it was voted that this year a sum of money be given each Sunday school teacher, to use for her class, either for June awards or as she sees fit. Owing, however, to the small amount on hand in the Sunday school treasury, and the demands from other sources, the amount available for each class will be very small.

It was decided to hold the annual Sunday school picnic the first Saturday in July, and a committee of Miss C. Fraser, F. Mantle and Mrs. William Allister was appointed to make suitable arrangements. It is hoped that this year Crofton, Westholme and Saltair will join, and that, owing to the new working regulations of the mill here, many of the parents will be able to come for the afternoon and for supper.

MANY EXHIBITS AT LADYSMITH

Enthusiastic Interest Shown in Rose and June Flower Show

LADYSMITH, June 7.—More enthusiastic public interest was one encouraging feature of the annual Rose and June Flower Show, sponsored by the Horticultural Society, in St. John's Hall, last Saturday.

Exhibits were rather more plentiful than usual, particularly in the section for miscellaneous June flowers. E. W. Forward, whose rose gardens are a veritable riot of rare coloring, entered many choice blooms, and took first place in total points by a wide margin.

The next event of importance on the horticultural calendar will prove of considerable interest to all flower lovers on Vancouver Island, for the second annual Island Summer Show will be held in Ladysmith on July 4 and 5. The show will be staged by the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association in co-operation with the Ladysmith Society in the Agricultural Hall.

Prizes include the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association medal, and five challenge cups, with many other special awards. The secretary of the local society, A. P. Glen, is asking that the present holders of challenge cups forward these to him on time, in order to facilitate awards.

RADIO ROMANCE AT THE DOMINION

Dick Powell and Ginger Rogers Star With Others in "Twenty Million Sweethearts"

Three former co-eds sing a featured number in "Twenty Million Sweethearts," the First National film now showing at the Dominion Theatre. Four years ago the girls, Marjorie Briggs, Dorothy Hill and Betty Noyes, enrolled at the University of California at Los Angeles.

When the Campus Capers, annual musical show, issued a call for candidates the three girls, along with several hundred other hopefuls, applied. The three were among those who were selected. They formed a vocal trio, adopting the name of "The Debutantes."

Ted Flo Rito chanced to hear "The Debutantes" a short time ago and signed them with his famous orchestra.

The girls sing "What Are Your Intentions?" in "Twenty Million Sweethearts." Ted and his band are also featured in the picture, as also are the Four Mills Brothers.

Dick Powell and Ginger Rogers play opposite each other as a new romantic team, with Pat O'Brien in the leading comedy role.

EMPIRE THEATRE The acts on the Bert Levey roadshow, now at the Empire Theatre, are all worthy of feature billing on any programme. Paul Kirkland and Company, the Monroe Brothers, known as "The Bouncing Comedians," and Nelson's Katland come direct from Chicago. Lorraine and Digby and Harry Cody in music and comedy offerings round out a diversified and entertaining vaudeville bill.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE On the proven theory that it seldom is a good idea to break up a winning combination—in football, business or the movies—Fox Film have placed the stamp of approval on the James Dunn-Claire Trevor arrangement. It is now playing at the Playhouse Theatre.

COLUMBIA THEATRE The hero-maker becomes a hero. Bob Miles, who taught Randolph Scott, Buster Crabbe and many others the tricks of the saddle and rope, himself plays an important role in Zane Grey's "The Last Round-Up," now at the Columbia Theatre.

DAMON RUNYON FILM COMING TO CAPITOL

Few writers know the pulse of Broadway, by day and by night, and the motley assortment of characters that play their parts in the never-ending drama of The Big Street, as does Damon Runyon, sports writer and fictionist, whose short story, "A Very Honorable Guy," showing at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow, is the vehicle for Joe E. Brown's latest First National picture.

Runyon is one of the two best-known authorities on sports in America, ranking with Grantland Rice.

SCHOOL REVUE WILL BE OFFERED TOMORROW

The English "Skirt Dance," which will be well remembered as a popular hit that swept the country some years ago, will be presented in new and modern guise in the revue, "Twinkle Toes," to be staged at the Royal Victoria Theatre tomorrow night, by the Russian Ballet School. This dainty dance will be executed by Phyllis Addison.

Many other novel acts and clever dances will be given on the programme, which bids fair to surpass the outstanding success of "Happy Feet," last year.

ENGLISH COMEDY OFFERED TONIGHT

Little Theatre Association Presenting Drinkwater's "Bird in Hand" at Shrine Hall

There are many points of interest for local audiences in the Victoria Little Theatre Association's play, "The Bird in Hand," to be presented this evening at the Shrine auditorium.

The setting, that of an old English inn, is wholy delightful, and is graced by genuine antiques, many beautiful pieces that the producers have gone to no little trouble to procure.

This play, set in its charming stage, is fraught with drama, poetry and romance, with the usual skill and poetry of the author, John Drinkwater. Interspersed, as it is, with inimitable Cockney fun, and the more dignified, but just as delightful, dry humor for which English society is famous, the play is calculated to absorb and entertain a public of varied tastes.

The members of the cast are as follows: Mr. Greenleaf, Leslie Lamb; Mrs. Greenleaf, Gwen Downes; Joan Greenleaf, Elaine Rowe; Gerald Arnwood, Roy Shadbolt; Mr. Blanquet, Vaughan Barker; Cyril Beverley, Fraser Lister; Ambrose Godolphin, K.C., H. F. Hewett; Sir Robert Arnwood, Hugh Allan.

HALF A HUNDRED AFTER COLONIST CUP

Three Tied for Leadership at End of First Round in U.S. Open Golf

Cruickshank, Cox And Lacey Score 71's in Opener

Trio Leading Gene Sarazen by Two Strokes—Paul Runyan Has 74 and Johnny Goodman 76—Scotty Campbell and Lawson Little Register Poor 83's—Armour Uses 82

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor.

MERION CRICKET CLUB, PHILADELPHIA, June 7 (AP).—Old Man Par successfully beat off the attacks of some of the foremost golfers of America today throughout the hot, wind-swept first round of the Open golf championship, but three of the hardest-hitting professionals had him on the ropes as they wound up the opening skirmish in a triple tie for the lead.

"Wee Bobby" Cruickshank, of Richmond, a play-off victim of Bobby Jones exactly eleven years ago, joined two stars of the Metropolitan New York district—British-born Charley Lacey and the veteran Wilfred ("Whiffy") Cox—in a three-cornered deadlock at 71, 1 over par, after the shooting had ceased for the first eighteen holes of the seventy-two-hole three-day battle. The day found a number of outstanding favorites far in the rear, and the scores at the highest level on any open championship in recent years.

SARAZEN WELL UP

At its close the "Three Musketeers" had a two-stroke lead over their nearest pursuer, stocky Gene Sarazen, of New York, with a 73; a three-stroke lead over a flock of others, including Paul Runyan, the tournament favorite, at 74, and a five-stroke advantage over the youthful amateur holder of the Open title, Johnny Goodman, of Nebraska.

Jimmy Johnstone, Toronto pro, left himself far behind with an 83. Tommy Filmore, professional hockeyist and golfing pro, of Detroit, needed 80. Joe "Trick-Shot" Kirkwood, wearer of the Canadian Open diadem, carded a neat 75, while the Canadian amateur champion, "Scotty" Campbell, of Seattle, shot a bad 83.

Johnny Goodman's 76 was the best any of the six Walker Cup heroes could produce under the blustery conditions, but it left the young sharpshooter in a tie for twenty-second place in a field of 146.

LITTLE HAS POOR 83

Meanwhile the champion's fellow-townsman and amateur rival, Rodney Bliss, Jr., runner-up last year for the inter-collegiate championship, took the day's honors among the Simon-pures by shooting a brilliant 74, which left him in a tie for fifth place with seven others, including Horton Smith, Paul Runyan, Mortie Dutrie and George Von Elm, all a stroke behind Sarazan. William Lawson Little, Jr., the new British amateur champion, carded a weird 83.

The professionals, for the most part, were equally as erratic, aside from the pace-setting group. Tommy Armour, the black Scot, blew himself out of the running with an 82. Denny Shute, of Philadelphia, the British open king, posted a mediocre 78. Ky Laffoon, of Denver, the sensation of the practise sessions, was in the big group tied with Goodman at 76, together with the colorful Walter Hagen, Olin Dutra, Leo Diegel, Ed Dudley, Harry Cooper and Bill Burke.

Of the front-runner, Cox had perhaps the best chance to hand the lethal wallop to Old Man Par. But for poor work on three short holes, where he lost four strokes to par, Cox would have come home with a score of 67.

King Salmon Wins Coronation Cup at Epsom Downs Course

Favorite Mate Finishes Second Three-Quarters of a Length Behind—Classic Oaks Will Be Run Today—Campanula Is Public Choice

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 7 (CP).—King Salmon won the important Coronation Cup, this afternoon, with the American campaigner, Mate, second, and the filly, Chatelaine, third. There were no other starters.

King Salmon, a four-year-old by Salmon Trout out of Malva, owned by Sir R. Brooke, finished the race over the Derby course of one and one-half miles, three-quarters of a length ahead of the six-year-old Mate, which is being pointed by A. C. Bostwick for the Ascot Gold Cup. Mate had a four-length margin over Chatelaine, owned by E. T. Thornton-Smith.

The winner started at 7 to 4. Mate, the favorite, was slightly odds on at 20 to 21, and Chatelaine was 11 to 2.

It was the twenty-ninth running of the race.

Mate gave his opponents a three-pound advantage.

CLASSIC OAKS TODAY

A grand filly will attempt to succeed, tomorrow, where a grand colt failed—to extend classic triumphs at Newmarket to the tough Derby course here.

The parallel between Colombo, the colt who was unbeaten till Windsor Lad won the Derby, yesterday, and Campanula, warm favorite for the classic Oaks, is remarkable. Campanula is considered an outstanding among the fillies as Colombo was among the colts.

There are five proper "classics" for three-year-olds on the English turf. The Two Thousand Guineas and the One Thousand Guineas at Newmarket are at a mile; the Derby and Oaks at Epsom are a mile and a half, and the St. Leger at Doncaster is a mile and three-quarters. The latter is the senior race, having been run since 1776, four years before the Derby.

FOR FILLIES ONLY

Colombo won the Two Thousand guineas. Campanula won the One Thousand, restricted to fillies. Colombo failed in the Derby, but Campanula is confidently expected to take the Oaks, the only other classic restricted to fillies. Unlike Colombo, Campanula is considered able to stay the longer route.

The chief threat to Campanula, who is owned by Sir George Bullough, may be Lord Durham's Light Brocade. Z. G. Michalino's Zelina also commands some support.

Instam Anaous (Dick), Shining Cloud (Nicoll), Campanula (Harry Wragg), Filastic (Sam Wragg), Light Brocade (Carslake), Kyloe (T. Burns), Call of Duty (Harry Heasley), Zelina (Steve Donoghue), Mis Tor (Gordon Richards).

Near Record Field Will Compete in 12th Annual Bike Race This Evening

Thousands Expected to Line Course for Classic Event—Fourteen Riders Entered in Class "A" and Eighteen in Class "B"—Race Will Start at Kings and Quadra at 7:30 o'Clock

Fifty of the leading bicycle riders in the Province will line up, tonight, when Chief Thomas Heatley's gun barks out the starting signal for the twelfth annual Colonist bicycle race. The classic fixture will start sharp at 7:30 o'clock from the corner of Kings Road and Quadra Street, with class "A" getting away first and the four other classes following at intervals of two minutes. The field is just short of a record one, and competition should be exceedingly keen.

The riders will take the following course: Start at Kings Road and Quadra Street, via Hillside and Douglas Street to Glanford Avenue, from there to the Saanich Health Centre and returning by the Saanich Road and Quadra Street to the starting point.

Response to the call for entries has been most satisfactory and a strong field will contest possession of The Colonist Cup, major trophy of the race, and the numerous prizes offered. The Colonist Cup goes to the rider making the fastest time around the eight-and-a-half-mile course, irrespective of class. The Wilkerson Cup is awarded to the rider cutting down last year's time by the greatest margin in classes "A" or "B." A similar trophy, given by the Victoria Cycling Club, goes to the rider in class "C," "D" or "E," who cuts last year's time by the greatest margin.

VALUABLE PRIZES

In class "A," the first prize is a silver cup presented by the Canada Cycle and Motor Company; second, a silver cup by George Robinson; third, a silver cup by B. J. Smith. In class "B," the first award is a gold medal from the B.S.A. Cycle Works, Ltd.; second, a silver cup from Plimley & Ritchie; third, a silver cup from Peden Bros. Class "C," first, a silver cup from the Dunlop Tire Co.; second, a silver cup from Jacob Aaronson, and third, a silver cup from Plimley & Ritchie. Class "D," a silver cup from George Harris; second, a silver cup from Peden Bros., and third, a silver cup from J. Aaronson. Class "E," first, a silver cup from the Hudson's Bay Company; second, a silver cup from B. J. Smith, and third, a silver cup from George Robinson.

The race is under the supervision of the city, Saanich and Provincial Police departments, who have co-operated every year in keeping the course clear for the riders and controlling the thousands of spectators who mass around the judges' stand and line the course to cheer the riders on their way. James A. Rowe will have charge of the official car, which will circle the course a few minutes before the race, distributing programmes which carry the names and numbers of the riders and the class in which they are entered. A truck, loaned by Scott & Peden, will be on hand at the starting point to serve as a judges' box, while Dowell's Transfer has designated a truck to follow the riders around the course in order to bring in any boy who suffers a mishap to his machine.

TO ANNOUNCE PROGRESS

Through the courtesy of the Seven Oaks Supply Store, the Saanich Health Centre, Goodwin's Grocery and Lowe's Lake Hill Grocery, officials will be posted to report the progress of the race back to the starting point, this being announced to the waiting crowd by W. J. Herbert.

To out-of-town riders the facilities of the dressing rooms and showers of the Y.M.C.A. are offered by Secretary F. Paulding, and every rider will be given a free ticket to the Crystal Garden by Manager A. H. Cowlishaw.

Punctuality is a point heavily stressed by the officials and it is essential that every rider be at the starting point in ample time.

Local Anglers to Take Part in Huge Port Angeles Test

Victoria Sportsmen to Affiliate With American Salmon Club in Putting Over Big Derby—Large Meeting Here Is Enthusiastic

Plans for the formation of a local angling organization, to be sponsored by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, which will compete in the first Pacific Northwest International Salmon Derby to be held at Port Angeles on September 2 and 3, were made at a largely-attended meeting of sport fishermen in the Chamber of Commerce, last night. Dr. Hugh Clarke was named local chairman and will appoint committee members shortly.

Great enthusiasm was evidenced at the meeting, and a delegation from Port Angeles, consisting of Dr. J. Cecil Hay, president of the Port Angeles Salmon Club; M. J. Schmitt, president Olympic Development League; H. B. Malchoir, secretary of the Port Angeles Chamber of Commerce; H. T. Swanson, vice-president of the Port Angeles Salmon Club, and H. W. Davies, manager of the port of Port Angeles, were present, and gave the meeting all the information required.

LOCAL REQUIREMENTS

Requirements for local anglers entering the Derby were explained. It was stated that those wishing to compete must take out affiliation cards with the Port Angeles club through the local executive. These may be secured at a nominal fee. Trials in Saanich Arm for local members will be held on August 12 and 19, and the 10 per cent of the membership with the largest fish will be eligible to take part in the finals in the American city. Local competitors may fish on either of the above dates, but not on both, and those with the largest fish will enter the championship proper.

Prizes for the finals are of a high-class variety, and many experts of the rod and reel are expected to go after them. The first award will be a Studebaker sedan; second, a trolling boat; third, an outboard motor. In addition, there will be twenty-five other prizes, consisting of tackle, rods, reels and various other fishermen's accessories.

Tackle specifications were explained to the meeting as follows: Rods must not be less than five feet in length, with reel attached. The rod must be held in the hands when playing a fish and must not be attached to the boat. The line may be of any type and of any limit. Only one type of lure of bait may be chosen. Each angler will be restricted to one rod, and fish may be gaffed by the angler or by any other person in the boat. The gaff must not be more than four feet long.

BIGGEST FISH WINS

The angler landing the biggest fish will win first prize, the next, the second, and so on. Robert Banderob, chief of Port Angeles police, will be official weigher. The fishing is limited to the area extending from the western limits of the Washington pulp and paper mill to the eastern limits of the Olympic Forest Products. This water also includes the inner harbor.

Dr. Cecil Hay, who is a former Victorian and a leading athlete in Rugby and the track before taking up the practice of medicine in Port Angeles, stated at the meeting that the club expected at least 500 to take part in the finals. "Clubs from all over the Pacific Northwest are interested and hundreds of individual inquiries have been received and answered by our club. Next year we hope to stage the Derby in Victoria," Dr. Hay said.

George I. Warren announced, after the meeting, that he would show films of fishing on the Island at Port Angeles in a short time. Any further information may be obtained from Dr. Hugh Clarke

ST. GEORGE'S TO PLAY HERE

Mainland School Cricketers Will Meet University Team Tomorrow at Mount Tolmie

The first inter-city cricket match of the season will take place here, tomorrow, on the grounds of University School, when an all-day game will be played between the first eleven of the school and one from St. George's School, Vancouver. Play will begin at 10:30, and stumps will be drawn at 5:30. An interesting struggle is expected and a large crowd will, no doubt, be on hand to see the visitors in action.

The visiting team will be guests of the boys of the school during the day, and the majority of the squad will stay overnight at the school, prior to their departure from the city on Sunday.

FIRST TEST CRICKET MATCH WILL OPEN TODAY

English XI and Australians to Renew Matches

Two Powerful Sides Will Meet at Nottingham in Renewal of Sixty-Year-Old Rivalry—Teams Have Each Won Fifty-One Matches and Drawn Twenty-Seven

NOTTINGHAM, England, June 7 (CP).—England and Australia clash Friday in the first of the season's five "test" matches, the classic battles of cricket, renewing a rivalry which has existed for nearly sixty years.

The Australians have brought over a fine combination of youth and experience, famed for great batting power, in an effort to regain the "ashes" lost when England visited down under in 1932 and 1933.

But the visitors have proved themselves woefully weak against very fast bowling. Baring, of Hampshire, stood them on their heads last month. For this reason the English team includes a youngster, of whom great things are expected—twenty-three-year-old Kenneth Farnes, of Cambridge and Essex, tall trundler with dazzling speed.

EXPERIENCED TEAMS

With the exception only of Farnes and C. F. Walters, of Worcester, the entire panel of fourteen from which the English team will be selected has had experience in the tests, either in England or Australia, or both countries.

A notable absentee, however, is Harold "Lightning" Larwood, who, after, a long lay-off with a foot injury, does not quite feel up to test play, just now.

Patsy Hendren, of Middlesex, who whaled Aussie bowling for 118 runs at Lord's a couple of weeks ago, and the redoubtable Herbert Sutcliffe, of Yorkshire, are the veterans of the English team. Patsy has been on every test eleven against the Aussies since 1921, with the exception of the 1922 tour; Sutcliffe has been in every team since 1925.

The Newab, of Pataudi; Wally Hammond, of Gloucester; Leslie Ames, of Kent; Maurice Leyland, of Yorkshire; Morris Nichols, of Essex; Hedley Verity, of Yorkshire; Thomas Mitchell, of Derby; William Bowes, of Yorkshire; and George Geary, of Leicestershire, are others on the English side.

R. E. S. Wyatt, invited to stay on the team, has a slight injury on his thumb, but it is not expected to affect his play.

HALF NEWCOMERS

The Aussies have sixteen men from which to select their eleven, and half of them are newcomers to test cricket. They have been playing in England since early in May, winning five matches and getting a draw in the other five.

In those ten matches they have knocked up four double centuries, with W. H. Ponsford leading the batting parade, followed closely by Don Bradman.

Ponsford scored two of the double centuries, Bradman and Stanley McCabe each rolled up one.

McCabe has been placed with Ponsford in the strongest partnership the Australians have found. This pair accounted for a third-wicket partnership of 389 runs, against M.C.C. bowling.

McCabe, twenty-three years of age, is probably the best all-rounder on the visiting side.

If anyone doubted there was dynamite in the 1934 Australia bats, the record of the tour, today, would dispel it. E. A. Chipperfield, the "baby" of the team—he is just twenty—knocked up 175 runs against Essex. Against Hampshire he scored 116, not out.

BRILLIANT BATSMAN

William A. Brown, of New South Wales, where Chipperfield came from, is another newcomer to test cricket. He is a brilliant bat and a lightning field. Against Lancashire he was good for 119 runs this week. He also took 105 off Cambridge University bowlers.

Captain W. M. Woodfull walloped Lancashire bowling, this week, for 172 runs, not out.

Tomorrow's match, which will run four days, is the 130th match between England and Australia. The series opened in Australia in 1876. Curiously, both have won fifty-one matches, the other twenty-seven being drawn.

Three Tennis Fixtures Set

Three fixtures are scheduled in the various sections of the Vancouver Island Tennis League over the week-end. Tomorrow afternoon, Victoria Club will meet Langford in the third division, and C.P.R. will take on Stanley Club in the same section. Sunday afternoon Victoria Club will clash with Armadale.

A little boy fell and hurt his knee. A kind lady picked him up, and, to stop him crying, said: "There! There! Upsy-daisy, my little man."

"Upsy-daisy be damned," shouted the boy. "Can't you see I'm hurt?"

"The auto industry," says a trade barometer, "records a 78 per cent jump." Heaven help the pedestrian with arthritis.

Calgary Racing Washed Out; Will Open Saturday

CALGARY, June 7 (CP).—Cancellation of today's and Friday's races at Chinook Park was announced this morning by officials of the Western Canada Racing Association. A sloppy track, following the heavy rain of the past three days, and almost impassable highways leading to the park made the cancellation necessary.

A new meet will be started Saturday, with four days of racing, ending Wednesday, June 13.

BEAVERS AND RIBBONS WIN

Former Trim New Method and Latter Takes Mohawks Into Camp Easily

Taking a 5-0 lead in the first inning, Beavers continued to keep the lead in the "A" section of the Lower Island Softball Association by scoring a 14-8 victory over New Method Laundries at Central Park. Blue Ribbons got back in the win column at the expense of the Mohawks at Victoria West Park, when they came through with a 13-1 verdict.

Lloyd Jones went the distance for the Beavers and received good support from his teammates, while Rosy McLellan pitched for the Laundry. Chuck Turner twirled for the Ribbons and had little trouble in turning back the Mohawks. Ed. Ashe hit a homer for the winners.

BRUINS WIN

Painter's Bruins continued their winning streak in the "C" section by blanking Hudson's Bay, 7-0, at Memorial Park, behind the stellar pitching of Lloyd Simpson. Only seven Bay players reached first base during the game. It marked the seventh straight win for the Bruins. On Sunday, the Bruins will travel to Shawnigan for a double-header. Players are requested to meet at the Blue Line depot at 10:15.

North Saanich scored a 17-1 win over the Coperage in "C" division, while the Hustlers handed the Canucks their first setback in "D" section, 18-4. Victoria West Social Club won a close game from Sidney in the same division, 3-2. A hit by Pelland in the ninth won the game.

GERMANY WINS SOCCER

NAPLES, Italy, June 7 (AP). — Germany, today, won third place in the world soccer championships, piling up three goals early in the game and then holding Austria safe to win, 3-2. The two teams were defeated in the semi-finals by Italy and Czechoslovakia, respectively, which meet at Rome for the title, Sunday.

Expect more than just one season's wear from a Wilson Summer suit. Choose any one of the new flannels or worsteds. It will have the quality of cloth and tailoring to justify your expectancy of long, hard wear. Prices, for QUALITY, are moderate . . . from $22.50 up.

Lawn Bowling

Yesterday afternoon, the women of Victoria Lawn Bowling Club played the role of hosts to the women of the C.P.R. and Lake Hill clubs, on the Beacon Hill greens. The lower lawn was an animated scene, the seven rinks being brought into use.

A variation from the usual custom of contests made it impossible to calculate the scores, because of the fact that at intervals alterations were made in the personnel of the various rinks. However, a splendid afternoon's sport was enjoyed, luncheon being served during the afternoon.

Following is the personnel of the rinks as originally drawn up:

CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK

W. H. Cullin, Sr., of Victoria, undertook to entertain W. H. Cullin, Jr., of Vancouver, on the Victoria Bowling Club greens, yesterday, but Cullin, Jr., turned the tables on "Dad" for once at least, as the score stood 34 to 13 in favor of the younger generation. A return match is threatened, with a promise of a different result, providing "Pater" practises up in the meantime.

Stocks Easy and Bonds Steady at New York Mart

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP).—Metal shares played a lone hand in moving counter to a slow downward drift in the stock market, today.

Unable to get through the tops of the narrow range it has occupied the last three weeks, the market reverted to idleness. Movements were mixed. The averages closed 3-10 of 1 point lower at 77.1. Sales shrank to 467,150 shares.

Gains of fractions to nearly 3 points were scored by the more active metal shares, including American Smelting, United States Smelting, McIntyre-Porcupine, Cerro de Pasco and Howe Sound. Dome Mines crossed 42 to a new peak since it was listed in 1932. Homestake Mining, leading domestic gold producer, leaped 14 points on transfer of 200 shares to a price of 380.

Standard Oils of New Jersey and of California, Atlantic Refining, Continental and other petroleum shares expanded gains in the previous session fractionally to more than 1 point. Amerada touched a new 1934 peak.

Strong spots were Scott Paper, up 4 points at the finish; J. I. Case, Columbia Gas and Electric $5 preferred and International Business Machines.

The bond market was fairly steady and prime investment issues showed further quiet firming tendencies.

In the corporate division, several loans crept through their old highs for 1933.

German obligations steadied. Others eased.

MINING STOCKS FAIRLY STEADY

Minto Features Trading but Closes Unchanged—C. & E. Drops Heavily

VANCOUVER, June 7 (CP). — Minto came back into prominence among the golds on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today but, despite its increased activity, the issue remained unchanged, to close at 33 1-2.

Other unchanged stocks included Meridian at 12, Premier Border at 1, Sally at 30 and Norgold at 19. Bralorne lost some of its early rise, but was still 10 up at the close, at 13.75. Bradian, though rather inactive, duplicated Bralorne, and finished 10 ahead at 2.80. Taylor Bridge at 72 1-2, was up 1 1-2; Kootenay Belle, at 52, up 2; and Reward at 8, up 1 1-2. Pioneer closed at 13.50, showing a gain of 50 cents. Grull Wihksne and Dentonia at 23 and 61, were down 2 and 3.

Most oils kept their previous closes, A.P. Con. selling at 11 and Home at 1.10. C. & E., however, was the big loser, dropping off 17 cents at 90.

Coast Breweries, in the industrials, was 35 cents up from the last close, at 11.85.

WHEAT DROPS FRACTIONALLY

Weakness at Chicago Reflects on Winnipeg Prices —Exports Small

WINNIPEG, June 7 (CP).—Downturns at Chicago injected easiness on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, today, as rains fell in the Northwestern United States and parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan. Only slightly above bottom levels, wheat futures ended the day with losses of 7-8 of a cent.

The forecast of heavy export shipments from Argentina was also a weakening factor. July wheat closed at 76 7-8c, with October at 78 3-4c.

Export sales were small. Most noteworthy offerings came from Chicago sources. Chicago wheat closed lower and Liverpool ended 1-4d to 1-2d off.

Cash grains were unchanged, while coarse grains eased.

MINTO
Following is result of mill test run on 125 pounds heavily mineralized Minto ore by O. S. Eldridge & Co., metallurgical engineers.
7.2 tons of ore give a one-ton concentrate carrying 13.55 ounces gold and 13.3 ounces silver.
At present metal prices this would give a value of $467.99 per ton of concentrate.
This run shows that the ore gave a 88.9 per cent recovery of gold and silver values by FLOTATION TREATMENT ALONE.
Further tests of ore for amalgamation are under way.
We recommend the purchase of MINTO at present prices.

Virginia Vane Says:

PERFECT BACHELOR WON'T MAKE EXCELLENT HUSBAND TO WOMAN WHO LOVES HIM

Dear Virginia Vane: I am a man of forty, in good health and with enough money on which to live very comfortably. I belong to several clubs, I have many friends, a comfortable home and a good housekeeper. I am extremely self-sufficient and can stand being by myself for long periods of time.

Now comes the problem: I am very fond of a woman whom I've known for five years. I like to be with her. We have similar tastes, we enjoy doing things together. She has told me frankly that she loves me and could make me happy. I do not love her. I can honestly say that I have never been completely in love in my life. Yet the prospect of having always with me an attractive and intelligent companion is not a bad one.

Do you think this woman could make me happy—as she suggests? Please give your candid opinion. I find your advice sound on every point.—Perfect Bachelor.

You've named yourself rightly, my friend, and since you have for so long played the role perfectly, perhaps it would be unwise for you at this late date to attempt a new part—that of Excellent Husband.

The self-sufficient, self-contained man, independent and free, enjoying his life just as it is, doesn't improve matters when he takes unto himself a wife. Not unless he happens to marry one of those paragons you read about in books and so seldom meet in real life; a completely reasonable, undemanding, unselfish life-partner who has all the charm of a woman and all the broad-mindedness and good sportsmanship of a man friend.

Oh, sometimes the perfect bachelor achieves a nice easy life partnership with a charming woman who doesn't love him. Her bland indifference makes it possible for him to go on being independent and free. He has his clubs and she has hers. She gets a good home and a nice male escort for the rest of her life. He gets a good housekeeper and an amiable hostess to entertain his friends. The exchange is even and no damage is done.

But the woman in love with her heart-whole and fancy-free bachelor isn't getting an even break when she marries him. She gives him all her love and he can give her nothing but affection and tolerance and some attempt at understanding. And no woman in love can stand that racket.

Before the marriage, she is cheerfully optimistic. In her great desire to be given the chance to care for the man she loves, she makes promises. She says: "You'll go your way and I'll go mine. I'll never interfere with any of your pleasures. I will understand that you want to be left alone. I will never say a word against your taking long trips without me."

Wildly and hopefully she makes these vows. And from the minute she leaves the altar and marches back down the aisle with a triumphant step, she is working instinctively to break those promises and to establish an order of things she had vowed would never exist.

For woman's nature is possessive. Out of her great love comes the desire to protect and plan for the beloved. She wants to share every experience with him, to be part of his life in every sense of the word. She begins at once to tear down the barriers which her self-contained husband has erected between himself and other human beings.

And in the end, Perfect Bachelor either becomes an Excellent Husband, or the happy easy-going partnership degenerates into wrangling dissension.

No, Bachelor, the woman who loves you couldn't make you happy unless you were prepared to make her happy. And that would mean sacrifice on your part. It would mean that you would have to give up your precious solitude and learn to share your joys and sorrows with someone else.

Marry a woman who doesn't love you and keep your life independent and free. Don't marry the woman who would be hurt by your independence and bitterly disappointed if you clung to your freedom.

RENEWAL OF FRIENDSHIP UP TO MAN IN THIS CASE

Dear Miss Vane: I had a beau who came to see me over the week-ends, but was not able to get around during the week. I loved him dearly and we talked about marrying. Then, because I got lonesome during the week, I went out with other boys, and my beau found this out and refuses to see me. I have begged for a chance to prove my real love for him, but he insists that I love someone else better than him. I can't live without him. What can I do to get him back?—Brown Eyes.

You've asked for your chance and you've been refused. You can't go on, pleading with an obstinate young man. Your self-respect couldn't stand it.

So you'd better go right on living, and making friends, and being your own sweet self—with the hope that your hero's love will be stronger than mere wounded vanity and pique. As I've told other girls before this, a man truly in love won't run the risk of losing his sweetheart over so slight a cause.

He'll get over his peeve if his love means anything at all—and if it doesn't, Brown Eyes, you could never have found happiness with your Romeo anyway. Remember, too, that if he trusts you so little, he can't forgive your having had one or two harmless dates with someone else—he'd make the kind of husband that keeps his wife locked up for fear she'll elope with one of the neighbors.

Jealousy has a flattering ring about it, before marriage, but it sounds a bitter note when its carried through long years of matrimony. And a mistrusting husband, suspicious and watchful, can make a woman's life miserable as effectively as can a drunkard, or a gambler, or a philanderer.

Perhaps this experience will bring back your suitor, a wiser and a more understanding man. Perhaps it will merely serve to have shown you that you narrowly escaped marrying a man too petty and small to forgive. In either case, the experience will have value for you. You have done nothing wrong, and must not, therefore, make any further strenuous efforts to clear up the situation.

RESTORE PAY FOR DUNCAN COUNCIL

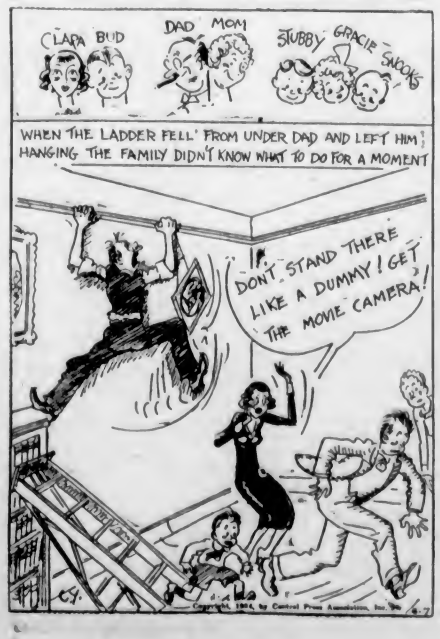

Proposal Submitted for Amalgamation of Duncan and Nanaimo Utility Companies

DUNCAN, June 7.—At the regular meeting of the City Council, held on Tuesday, a resolution was adopted restoring the remuneration for mayor and aldermen to the 1931 figures, $300 for the mayor and $100 for each of the aldermen. For 1932 and 1933 a reduction of 10 per cent from these figures was voted.

A proposal submitted by Messrs. White and Martin, concerning a suggested amalgamation of Duncan Utilities, Limited, and Nanaimo Light & Power Company into one company, to be known as the Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities, Limited, was received. The new company proposes to assume all obligations of Duncan Utilities and to give such assurances as are deemed necessary in regard to municipal bond payments. The proposal is being submitted to the city solicitor.

The Cowichan Chapter, I.O.D.E., was granted permission to hold its annual Rose Day tag in Duncan, on Saturday, June 23.

STATEMENT STIRS UP BAER CAMP

Member of N.Y. Commission Not Impressed With Challenger's Showing

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer.

ASBURY PARK, N.J., June 7 (AP).—An innocent little ballyhoo stunt turned into one of those guns nobody thought was loaded, today, until Bill Brown, member of the New York State Athletic Association, got fooling with the trigger, and all but blew Primo Carnera's heavyweight title defence against Max Baer, a week from tonight, right out of existence.

Brown watched the brawny challenger box nine rounds, today, and then announced he would recommend, tomorrow, to the other two commission members, John J. Phelan and D. Walker Wear, that the match be postponed a month or called off entirely.

CAMP IN UPROAR

Brown's statement turned the fight camp into an uproar; brought howls of protest from Madison Square Garden, and left the Baer handlers, who suggested the postponement idea, yesterday, as a ballyhoo stunt, looking like small boys who forgot to let go of a lighted sky-rocket.

"If that's the best Baer can do," the militant, white-haired commissioner announced at the ringside after watching the challenger clown through nine rounds with four sparring partners, "then he should not be permitted to fight Carnera at all."

CARNERA WALKS OUT

POMPTON LAKES, N.J., June 7 (AP).—Irked over the heckling to which he was subjected, yesterday, Primo Carnera walked out on all visitors to his training camp, today. The big Italian, scheduled to defend his heavyweight title against Max Baer, June 14, jumped into his car when the first visitors arrived, and roared off to a quiet hideout. Tomorrow he will resume boxing.

Soccer Chatter

By A.F.A.N.

It is quite evident that the officials of the Victoria West Club give some heed to my chattering, for, playing against the City, on Wednesday last, the Wests found themselves in exactly the same position as that in which they were a week previously. They were one goal to the good, but this time, instead of kicking the ball over the trees, they took my advice and went ahead to score another and win the game.

Had they not done this, the one goal scored later by the City would have robbed the Wests of any chance they still had of disputing with the Thistles the leadership of the league second half. We must give the greenshirts credit, too, for the clever manner in which they took advantage of that free kick to score their deciding goal.

But the task of staying in the league running is as nothing to that formidable one that they have to face on Saturday. Bearding the lion in his den is simple to tackling Nanaimo in a cup tie at Nanaimo. But let the Up-Island folks remember what happened last year, when they were put out of the running in the Connaught Cup by a practically unknown team. History has a nasty knack of repeating itself. Here's hoping the best for the Wests.

Whatever happens, we are bound to get a second round game in Victoria, with Saanich or Esquimalt playing the Wests or Nanaimo. We had fairly good luck in the draw this year, and I do not think anyone will be surprised if the second game is between Nanaimo and Esquimalt, probably our two best Island clubs.

I am, of course, the more inclined to favor Esquimalt against Saanich after last Saturday's display, when the result of a really good game was that Esquimalt won the Jackson Cup and are now the official champions of the Lower Island district. In this game the Dockers showed a complete reversal of form and thoroughly deserved their win.

But I believe that Saanich could at least have equalized matters, had they, in the second half, put the two Chapmans together on the front line. These boys do not shine apart from each other; when they are together they seem to cover up all available space on the front line apart from the wings, and towards the end of the game there were several opportunities lost because the defence found a gap through which to push the ball to safety.

One of the most notable features of the game was the recovery of Bichard, at left fullback for Esquimalt. This player, after his failure to function the week before, turned in a splendid exhibition, his tackling was effective and his kicking clean and accurate. Esquimalt owes a big part of the Jackson Cup to Bichard.

Both goalies gave a grand exhibition, a one-handed save by Rowe being a particularly fine piece of work. Apart from Bichard, none of the fullbacks played fully up to their form, but the halves on both sides contributed much to the general high standard of the game.

While both of Esquimalt's goals were well earned and thoroughly deserved, there was a certain element of luck in each. Rowe seemed to trip himself up in his effort to reach Stewart's shot, and later on the ball seemed to fall into Viggers' arms as he stood on the goal line covering up Rowe, who was beaten by a dropping lob.

I never do hold with players attempting come-backs in an important game, and I do not think that either team benefited greatly by the inclusion of Tom Watt and Fred Price. Both these men are valuable, but were evidently out of practice, Price missing one glorious opportunity to score, and Watt being beaten by the opposition too often for a centre half.

In olden days there used to be a ruling which limited the length, or, rather, the shortness, of shorts to about an inch or so above the knees. If I were playing against some of the abbreviated trunks of the modern player, I should certainly protest. Take the Chapman boys for example; their legs in anything would seem to an opponent to be a terrible length, but with their basketball waistcloths that they wear, they must seem to the opposition to be playing on stilts, and the resulting effect must be disconcerting or even terrifying.

Several spectators, on Saturday, were indignant because, as they said, the linesmen were too officious, repeatedly butting in on the referee's job and, in their opinion, slowing up the game.

This is only one more example of fan ignorance, which spoils, or tends to spoil, so many games here. Decision of the international board concerning Law XIV states: "Linesmen, where neutral, shall call the attention of the referee to rough play or ungentlemanly conduct and generally assist him to carry out the game in a proper manner."

There now only remains for us to decide who shall hold the Garrison Cup, and whether or not the Dominion trophy shall come to Victoria this year or go elsewhere. A couple of weeks should, with luck, see the end of the longest football season in the history of the game. I am open to correction on the latter point.

Of great interest to soccer players and fans was the little item of news that the new MacDonald Park was in use last week. This will probably mean that the Ruggers will, next season, have their own pitch, leaving the Royal, which never suited the handling game, to the people who prefer a fast dry ground.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

Word comes from New York from James J. Jeffries to the effect that he will fight Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship, but from statements made in communications to his friends, the one-time maker of boilers would not be surprised if Stanley Ketchel knocked out the negro titleholder in their bout at Colma, Cal., next October. The admirers of Ketchel believe the Michigan fighter will find some way to penetrate the peculiar and effective defence of Johnson, and make him quit with body blows. Ketchel himself says that Johnson cannot take a beating. The Michigan middleweight will be given an opportunity to show whether he has gained in ring science when he meets Jack O'Brien, Wednesday night, in a six-round bout at Philadelphia.

When the starter's gun gives the signal for the ten-mile marathon a week from Saturday, there will be about twenty of the best-trained athletes on Vancouver Island in the struggle for the beautiful Victoria Sporting Goods Company Trophy. Reports from the various clubs are to the effect that assure keen competition. Frank Baylis, who won the five-mile event at Duncan on Saturday last, will be on deck and is a strong favorite to lift the honors Teddy Coleman will attempt to show his superiority over the field and is hard in training for the big race. Jasper, the fair-haired lad from the Esquimalt Athletic Club, goes for a run each evening and is expected to be a threat. Joe Hancock, of the Victoria Lacrosse Club, has been forced to drop out, due to an injured hand. Corkle and Brown, of the Victoria West Club, have been training at Cowichan Lake and hope to be in the thick of the struggle for the beautiful cup. Other entries are expected during the next few days.

Percy Wilson, one of the Victoria West athletes, will leave tomorrow morning for California, where he will play lacrosse for the Olympic Club, San Francisco, during the Summer.

Al Jeffs, of the J.B.A.A., and Charlie Cohen, of the Y.M.C.A., will soon be matched to go the fifteen-round pace in a local boxing show to be held in the near future. Joe Bailey and Billy Hill, of Victoria West, will also go the same route. When these four lads get into the squared circle plenty of action is promised.

CAFE NINE TO BATTLE TILLICUMS

Senior Ball Clubs Will Be After First Victory of Season This Evening

POODLE Dog Cafe and Tillicums will be after their first victories of the season in the Victoria Amateur Baseball League, this evening, when they meet at the Royal Athletic Park at 6:15. It will mark the third game since the curtain went up on Monday evening, and a good crowd is expected. Allie McGregor will make the decisions. Since dropping the opener against Sons of Canada, the Tillicums are reported to have strengthened up, and will introduce some new material for observation.

Bill Holness, the right-handed twirler, who had the Indian sign on the Sons last season, will most likely go to the hillock for the cafemen, with Bill Bridgewood as his battery mate. The heavy-hitting Poodle Dog nine, who lost a tough verdict to the Sons, Wednesday, after a slugfest, will have their regular line-up on hand. Claude Belcher will be on first, Ross Nicholson, a newcomer, on second, and "Red" Bennison at short. Bert Nex will be guard in the hot corner, while Steve Dunc, Dave Essler and Herb Cummins will gather in the flies driven to the outer garden. In case Holness runs into trouble, Dan Lidstone and Leo Holden will be on hand to relieve.

Lefty Alexander is expected to start for the Tillicums, and Wally Scott will be behind the plate. Gordie Moore, Taylor Gibbons and another player will make up the infield. For the outfield they will have Ted Colgate, Lloyd Jones and Art Chapman.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.

CHILDREN AND SLEEP

During 347 nights the sleep of 170 children and teen-age boys and girls (six to eighteen) were under observation by a group of psychologists (brain or mental physicians), and the results of these observations are of interest to teachers, parents, and the children themselves.

These children, in groups of twenty, slept in single beds each fitted with an electrical device which recorded any change in position the youngster made, minute by minute, throughout the nine hours stay in bed. Each group of twenty children remained in these special beds for about fifty nights.

After obtaining a general idea of the normal sleep habits of each child these habits were compared with the effect of a picture show, of drinking coffee and coffee substitutes at the evening meal, the effect of loss of sleep, and the effect of any illness that was about to attack the child.

The research workers were Drs. Samuel Renshaw, Ohio State University, Vernon L. Miller, Bowdoin College, and Dorothy P. Marquis, and some of their conclusions are:

The temperature and moisture of the air in the room did not seem to have much effect upon sleep.

Younger children are quieter sleepers than older ones.

There was less movement and more real quiet restful sleep during the first half of the stay in bed, especially from thirty minutes to one and one-half hours after going to bed.

Seeing some movie films does cause a disturbance of sleep, especially during the first half of the night but if not indulged in too often does not seem to do any harm. If, however, the youngsters attend too many movies it was found to interfere with health and growth. For certain very sensitive or weak youngsters only certain selected films should be seen.

The sleep of children below ten years of age did not seem to be greatly affected by movies; the sleep of children at the age of fourteen to sixteen (growing from boyhood and girlhood to manhood and womanhood) was most disturbed.

Frequent loss of sleep, equal in amount to one-third of the usual amount required, caused by staying up late, will almost certainly lead to disturbances in conduct and to physical conditions harmful to the health in children. Young children and children of weak construction and nervous temperament will show these effects in the greatest degree.

Sleep then is most necessary to the health of children; as necessary as food and fresh air.

DUMBARHON, Scotland, June 7 (CP-Havas).—Five young members of an amateur canoe club, yesterday, were believed to have drowned in Loch Lomond. The party started out last night for a short trip. A sudden storm overtook them, and no word has been received since. Search parties were looking for the bodies and canoes today.

PASSENGER IS FATALLY HURT

Engineer and Fireman Missing After Train Plunges Through Bridge

BALTIMORE, June 7 (AP).—One girl was fatally hurt and the engineer and firemen were missing last night, after a northbound passenger train on the Baltimore-Harrisburg branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad plunged through a bridge at Graystone Station, Baltimore County.

Miss Margaret Frederick, twenty, of Parkton, Md., died in a hospital. She had been scalded by steam thrown out when the boiler of the locomotive exploded.

The missing members of the train crew were Engineer T. F. Bossom and Fireman J. O. Blauser, both of Baltimore. They were believed to have been buried beneath the engine or coal car, which had fallen from the trestle into the bed of Little Gunpowder Falls, about thirty feet below.

PINNED IN WRECKAGE

The girl, daughter of Charles Frederick, a railroad watchman stationed at Whitehall, half a mile away, was pinned in the wreckage of a wooden passenger coach, which also had dropped from the bridge.

Spreading rails was believed by railroad men to have been the cause of the wreck. The locomotive, tender and one coach left the tracks, and ploughed along the road for some distance before plunging down the embankment into the river.

The last car broke away from the rest of the train and rolled over the bridge before coming to a stop.

Miss Frederick was the only passenger.

COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING TODAY

The City Council has decided to make a real day of activity, today, and will commence by attending the Chamber of Commerce luncheon, to be held in the Empress Hotel, which will be addressed by Premier T. D. Pattullo.

Right after the luncheon the council will meet at 2 o'clock to clear away a mass of business that has accumulated since a week ago last Monday.

The British Columbia Insurance Underwriters' Association notified the city that the survey report was not ready for submission yet.

Immediately following the council meeting, the mayor and aldermen will be guests of honor at a tea dansant aboard the U.S.S. San Francisco.
